Making Improvements.

Taylor & Scott have commenced the work of fixing up their building recently purchased by them from the Rossier estate. A fire proof vault will be built and a new front put in and other improvements made. The place will be occupied by the company's abstract and insurance business.

—Do not forget that one of the greatest violinists of the age, Jacob Reuter, will be at the opera house in this city on Monday evening, June 6th.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto R. Roenius leave tomorrow for Detroit, Mich., where Mr. Roenius will attend the convention of the American Foundrymen's Association. They expect to be absent about ten days.

MEEHAN.

Wm. Reynolds, principal of the high school at Wausau, but whose home was in the southern part of the state, was drowned here in the Wisconsin river Sunday forenoon. He is in company with several others from Wausau were making a trip to Killebuck in boats. They had come from the Whiting power mills Sunday morning and when they reached there the wind was blowing very hard up stream making the water very rough on the side of the river where they were. Thinking it would be more agreeable for them they undertook to cross to the opposite side and when near there their boats were all upset. E. E. Lampert one of the party being a good swimmer succeeded in rescuing two others who would have been drowned and then attempted to rescue Mr. Reynolds but found the water so rough that it was impossible to do anything. The man was last seen hanging to his capitolized boat with the waves rolling high. His boat was found down on Brawley Rapids but no trace of him could be found. As the water and waves were very cold at that time it is supposed that he perished in a short time. Crowds of people have been searching the river but have failed to find him.

Was Largely Attended.

If a large attendance is any criterion of success, the annual ball of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, held in this city last Friday evening, was certainly a most successful affair. The hall was crowded during the entire evening and everybody seemed to have a most enjoyable time. Supper was served by the ladies of the Federated Clubs in the Eagles hall during the evening, and a large number patronized them.

Robinson Show Not Coming.

The Yankee Robinson company that was to have visited this city on the 17th instant, will not come here, owing to the fact that Ringling Brothers have decided to come here on the 22nd of June. An agent for the Robinson company cancelled their contracts here on Tuesday, stating that the show would go to Sparta instead of this city.

Weinberg Construction Co. Gets Contract.

The Weinberg Construction Co. of this city was awarded the contract to erect the new county asylum which will be built near Marshfield. Their bid was $197,000.

Billing the Town.

MAN MEETS INSTANT DEATH IN THE MILL

Anton Stotak, who was employed in the mill of the Consolidated Water Power & Paper Co., met instant death while at work on Tuesday morning, being crushed to death, while engaged in lowering a beater roll to the lower floor of the mill.

Mr. Stotak was at work with several other employes of the mill engaged in lowering a beater roll to the lower floor of the mill. These rolls are heavy affairs, being said to weigh about three tons. In order to get them from one floor to another they are lowered thru a hole in the main floor of the mill, the weight of the roll being supported by a metal I-beam, which rests with one end on a horse and with the other stuck into the masonry of the wall.

While the roll was being supported by this I-beam the weight was sufficient to spring the beam so that it was pulled from its resting place in the wall, and the roll and beam fell to the floor below, Stotak being caught under the beam and crushed.

There were seven men working on the job, but the others were either standing far enough away to escape the falling beam and roll, or else they jumped aside quick enough to avoid it.

After the accident Justice Pommerville acting in the capacity of coroner, impounded a jury and held an inquest on the body, a verdict being returned of accidental death.

Stotak was a man 45 years of age, and is survived by his wife and one daughter.

Grand Rapids Wins Both Games

The baseball enthusiasts of Grand Rapids who attended the two games with Eau Claire on Sunday and Monday certainly saw about all the varieties of baseball there is on the calendar.

Grand Rapids took the first game by a score of 11 to 0, Pitcher Foster allowing only one hit which was made by E. Hanson, captain of the Eau Claire team.

Monday's game was a harder fight and final results showed a score of 11 to 10 in favor of Grand Rapids. This was a very interesting game from start to finish, as it was nobody's game until the end. The principal features of the game were two home runs by Ditzler and LeRoux and a catch by Schriener off Foster's hit.

It is expected that the grand stand will be completed by next Sunday, also that the grounds as well as the team will be in much better shape than at present so we can expect a first class game with Merrill next Sunday.

The lineup for Sunday and Monday was as follows:

	Grand Rapids	Eau Claire
Outfield	Ditzler	Chastaine
1st	Polot	A. Hanson
2nd	Smith	J. Hanson
3rd	Schriener	Moline
4th	Brennan	C. Hanson
5th	Bunn	E. Hanson
6th	Kramer	McLeod
7th	LoRoux	Logerain
8th	Foster	Zachman
9th	Williams	Woods
10th	Corrigan	Bungo
11th	Mann

Dulin Making Good.

There's one boy in a Brockton uniform who is making good beyond the expectations of the most optimistic fans, and his hitting and holding are features of the Brockton play. If Cliff Dulin can keep up the pace that he has cut out since the weather got a little better for the players, he is due to be prominent among the infielders on the New England circuit this year. From his very first appearance when he blew in from Wautoma, Wis., it was easy to see that he can play the hot corner with the best men in the league.—Brockton (Mass.) Daily Enterprise.

Confirmation Exercises.

Next Sunday a class of fifteen catechisms will be confirmed in the Ev. Luth. Immanuel church on Eighth street, Rev. Maack officiating. Following are the names of the members of the class:

BIRTHS

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Johnson on Saturday.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Oopress.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ward on Monday.

Miss Bernice Johnson, who has been taking a three years course in the Sargents School of Physical Training for ladies at Cambridge, Mass., arrived home the past week having finished her course with high honors.

Among those from this city who attended the bankers convention at Marshfield last Friday were E. B. Redford, E. M. Pense, F. J. Wood and Guy O. Babcock.

Will Hayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Hayes, was in the city on Friday, having come down to attend the trainmen's dance held here that evening.

The physicians of the city are holding a smoker at the club houses up the river this afternoon in honor of Dr. Rockwell who is soon to leave the city for a trip abroad.

Kenneth McKamley was in Milwaukee on Thursday to consult a specialist regarding his eyes.

—Don't miss Jacob Reuter and his company. They will appear at Daly's Theater next Monday.

Church Dedicated.

For the last year the members and friends of the First Moravian congregation of Kellner have labored earnestly and hard to erect a church building in which to hold their services. Sunday marked the success of their earnest endeavor. Siddon does one see a neater and better proportioned church.

The building itself is 21x10 with an 8x12 entrance hall over which towers a steeple. The basement under the main building is nine feet in the clear and promises to be one of the most usable features of the building.

For the dedicatory service the interior of the auditorium was tastefully decorated with festoons, pillars and arches entwined with garlands of evergreen moss. The pastor Rev. Mellicke, presided at all the meetings of the glad day. At the first service in the morning Bishop Mueller of Watertown, Wis., delivered the dedicatory sermon and also performed the rite of dedication. He was followed by Rev. Mellicke who delivered a short German address. It is needless to say that the congregation enjoyed this service for with heart and hand they labored for it.

Immediately after the service dinner was served to all members in the basement of the church. That everybody enjoyed this goes with the saying of it. The ladies had spared neither time nor trouble to make this their special part of the program for the day, a success. From salads, Boston baked beans to Angel food and every other not Angel food, the menu ran. The afternoon service was a fellowship meeting. After the pastor very briefly had outlined the history of the work he called on Rev. M. R. Milne of the First Baptist church to open the fellowship meeting. Rev. Milne was followed by Rev. W. A. Newing of the Methodist church and Rev. Nowing in turn by Rev. Fred Staff of the Congregational church. All three spoke in their happiest vein, assuring the congregation of their joy to see with what success their work was rewarded and with many a telling word encouraged the congregation to push on with even greater zeal for the upbuilding of God's kingdom, in hearts and homes and community.

The last speaker Bishop Mueller gave a brief survey of the history of the Moravian church and also of its doctrines in his ever pleasing and interesting way in the German language.

A goodly number of visitors were started to learn that the Moravian church was organized 25 years before Father was born, that it had already a regular Foreign Mission publication when Carey, often called the Father of Foreign Missions, was born. That now, for every 56 communicants at home it has one missionary in the field. All together this meeting was one never to be forgotten. A supper was ready in the basement for all at the close of this meeting, those obliged to go home being served first.

The evening service was as largely attended as the other services, taking the regular seating capacity of the fine pews besides the seventy odd chairs. Rev. H. B. Johnson was the first speaker of the evening to be followed by Bishop Mueller, Rev. Dewey who was also to speak at this meeting because ill and had to hasten home just as the meeting was to begin so the pastor, with a few remarks, brought this, the last but not least, of the three meetings of the glad day to a close.

EAGLES WILL MEET AT SHEBOYGAN.

The annual convention of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will be held at Sheboygan this year on June 30 and 31st and July 1st. It is expected that the meeting will be the biggest thing of the kind ever held in the state. The following list of prizes will be awarded to visiting aeries:

First Prize: Sheboygan Business Men's Association prize of $150.00 to the Aerie having the largest number of uniformed men in the line of parade, with a band of no less than 18 pieces.

Second Prize: $100.00 to the Aerie having the neatest uniform in the line of parade with a band of no less than 18 pieces.

Third Prize: $75.00 to the Aerie having the second largest number of uniformed men in line.

Fourth Prize: $50.00 to the Aerie having the second neatest uniform in line.

Fifth Prize: $35.00 to the Aerie having the third largest number of uniformed men in line.

Sixth Prize: $50.00 to the Aerie having the largest number of uniformed men in line coming at a distance of not less than 150 miles by the nearest route.

Seventh Prize: $10.00 to the tallest visiting Eagle in the line of parade.

Eighth Prize: $10.00 to the shortest visiting Eagle in the line of parade.

Ninth Prize: $10.00 to the slimmest visiting Eagle in the line of parade.

Tenth Prize: $10.00 to the fattest visiting Eagle in the line of parade.

Besides the above there will be other special prizes offered.

A Three Legged Chicken.

D. M. Huntington recently hatched a batch of chickens in his incubator and one of the youngsters has three feet and three legs. It is quite a curiosity and as Mr. Huntington is not charging any admission there has been quite a demand to see it.

Received Two Fine Setter Dogs.

L. M. Nash received two fine Liewelleys setter dogs from Mr. Day a friend in Kentucky, who hunted deer with the "Nash Bunch" in northern Wisconsin last fall.

MEMORIAL DAY WAS OBSERVED BY ALL

Memorial day in this city was pretty generally observed by merchants about town, all of the stores being closed practically all day.

In the morning the band turned out and a procession was formed at the G. A. R. hall, and the old soldiers and citizens fell into line, and notwithstanding the fact that the weather was uncomfortably cool, there was a large number out. The procession marched to the city hall where the band and the members of the Post were taken into riga and conveyed to the cemetery, where the usual memorial exercises were performed.

In the afternoon there were services in the amusement hall, which included vocal and instrumental music, speaking, etc., the program there taking up something over two hours, there being a large attendance both from this city and the surrounding towns.

Ringling Brothers Announced.

—Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Shows will exhibit in Grand Rapids on Wednesday, June 22.

Official announcement of the event is made today. The first advertising car has arrived in town and the work of transforming dead walls into brilliant picture galleries has begun.

The triumphs of this circus in Madison Square Garden, New York City, have gone down in history. As purveyors of delicious and exciting entertainment the five brothers have attained the perfection of artists. There is nothing new under the sun that is not first discovered and secured by them. This year they bring from Europe and the Far Eastern countries a new budget of wonders.

The ordinary circus is content with one big feature. It is not always lucky enough to get that. The Ringlings have foreign offices in London, Liverpool, Paris, Berlin, St. Petersburg, Vienna, Hamburg, Melbourne, Calcutta, Hong Kong and Yapo Town. Their agents are constantly searching for novelties. This circus has its own jungle trappers as well. With such facilities at its command, the management is naturally looked to for big things. The public expects much from them, and the public is never disappointed.

The history of the Ringling Brothers reads like one of Hans Andersen's tales. Twenty-seven years ago they began life with nothing but ambition. Today they still have the ambition, but they also have the richest and largest amusement organization in the world. When they gave their first performance on the public square of their home town, the youngest was only sixteen years old. Their tent was borrowed from a neighboring lumber yard. They had but one horse. They gave the performance themselves. At was an expert juggler. He tossed cannon balls, feathers and silk hats with wizard skill. Alfred led the "silver cornet band". His triple tongue work was the talk of the town. John was the rising young German comedian. Charles was an acrobat, an acrobat and a clown. Otto was the financial head.

Their start in life was small, but it was earnest. They had the peculiar talent necessary to success in the show business. They were not afraid of hard work. Naturally they prospered from the start, though on their first season they did not wander far from home. Their one horse was not equal to the task. In 1881 their season's tour included an entire state. In 1885 they traveled through three states. In 1888 they made their first appearance with a railroad show. From this on their progress reads like fiction. They went where they liked, in spite of bitter opposition on the part of older shows.

Before very many seasons had gone by the shows they once feared began to fade away at their approach. So greatly had they gained in popularity with the public, they had but to post their bills to get the crowds. The foundation of their successful policy is no secret. It is summed up in the one word "honesty." They advertised only what they had, a custom at that time unknown to the circus business. Once having gained the confidence of the people, it was an easy matter for them to keep it. Now, when they come to a city the people know the best of everything will be on hand. For more than ten years they have had the largest and best circus in the world. And it is still growing.

F. Keip Farm Sold.

The F. Keip farm in the town of Hansen was sold this week to Frank Rode of Waukesha. The farm consists of 164 acres and is one of the best farms in that town. Mr. Keip retains this season's crops and remains in possession of the place until March 1st, 1911.

Kruger-Tuthill.

Charles F. Kruger and Mrs. Sara Adele Tuthill will be married this evening at 6 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. D. Witter, Rev. W. A. Newing to perform the ceremony.

Mrs. Edward Lynch returned the past week from a three months visit with her sister in Los Angeles, Cal. On her return trip Mrs. Lynch came by the way of San Francisco, and Portland and spent some time in Billings, Mont., visiting with her mother.

Mrs. A. D. Grignon, son Earl and daughter Mary left today for their home at Pitt, Minn.

Mrs. B. B. Giggins visited with friends in Madison several days the past week.

Not Always.

Finds For the Plaintiff.

In the case of John Fors, administrator of the estate of May Fors, against the Consolidated Water Power & Paper company, tried on in circuit court last week the jury found for the plaintiff in the sum of $500.

The case occupied the attention of the court for the entire week and many legal points were argued out by the opposing attorneys. The verdict of the jury is considered rather a queer one by people who are not posted on the finer points of law inasmuch as they found that the plaintiff was entitled to the sum of $500 and at the same time decided that Von Hilday who was handling the boat at the time of the accident was guilty of contributory negligence.

To begin with, if the plaintiff were entitled to anything it would seem as if it would be more than $500, and it was a case of negligence they would not be entitled to anything. As it now stands it is a case for the court to decide and will be up to the judge to say who shall win.

The verdict was rendered in the form of answers to eight questions asked by the judge, the questions and answers being as follows:

Q. 1. Was defendant negligent at the time of the accident in failing to give to the public using the waters above defendant's dam, notice or warning of the existence of the open gate?

Answer, Yes.

Q. 2. If you answer the first question "Yes," then was such negligence of the defendant the proximate cause of the death of May Fors?

Answer, Yes.

Q. 3. Did Von Hilday, before his last trip around the pond with the party on the night of the accident, know that the gate in question was open?

Answer, Yes.

Q. 4. Did any lack of ordinary care on the part of Von Hilday proximately contribute to produce the death of May Fors?

Answer, Yes.

Q. 5. Did any lack of ordinary care on the part of May Fors proximately contribute to produce her death?

Answer, No.

Q. 6. Did any lack of ordinary care on the part of Ralph Anderson proximately contribute to produce the death of May Fors?

Answer, No.

Q. 7. What sum of money would fairly and justly compensate plaintiff for the pecuniary injury to the father of May Fors resulting from the loss of her services during her minority, and her funeral expenses?

Answer, $500.00.

Q. 8. What sum of money would fairly and justly compensate the parents of May Fors for the loss of pecuniary benefit to them reasonably to have been expected from the continuance of her life beyond her minority?

Answer, Nothing.

J. D. Harrington, Foreman.

Will Play at Wausau.

On Friday morning the Grand Rapids band will leave for Wausau to furnish music for the convention of Commercial travelers which will be in session in that city. The band leaves here on the early morning train and will return on the night train. It is expected that there will be several of the best bands in the state present. The local band is being taken up by the Milwaukee delegation.

Destroy Breeding Places.

The keynote of the campaign against the fly is to destroy its breeding places. It is perfectly idle to kill it after it has been hatched, by insect powders, fumes and vapors. Even the careful screening of doors and windows is at best only a mitigation of the pest. We have been lulled into a sense of security while babies and adults have been dying from diseases carried by the fly. There is no time like the present to begin the work of extermination.

Now in Their New Home.

The Wood County National Bank people moved into their new building last Wednesday, and things were settled so quickly and with so little confusion that anybody to enter the bank that day would not know but they had been doing business in the building for years.

Member of a Large Family.

Oliver Trudell of this city bears the distinction of being one of a family of 17 children, born of one father and mother, and fifteen of the children and the mother are still alive, the latter residing at Grand Marie, Canada, and has now reached the ripe age of 83 years.

Making Improvements.

Drs. Bandelin and Houston have leased two additional rooms in the Pommerville block, and during the past few days have had workmen engaged in fixing the place up, and when finished it is evident that they will have a very convenient and neat set of offices.

Band Concert Thursday.

The usual weekly band concert will be given on the east side on Thursday evening, for which occasion a nice program is being prepared.

Mrs. J. H. Noyes was called to Tomah the first of the week by the serious illness of her twin sister, who will have to submit to a surgical operation on Thursday. Mrs. Noyes has the care of her children during her absence.

Mrs. George LaBrecht of Manitowish visited her friends in this city several days the fore part of the week.

Jacob Reuter, Monday.

SCHOLARS GIVE EXCELLENT PLAY.

The Lincoln Building was crowded to the doors on Monday evening when the class play "Moose" was given to the graduates. Those who attended were not disappointed, for the play was handled in a most excellent manner, and there were many humorous situations that were thoroughly enjoyed by the audience.

The cast of the play was as follows: Moose, a football hero—Phillip Tanager; Frank Thornton, weak but not wicked—Leland Carden; Thurston Hall, who makes a mistake—Harry W. Lynn.

Billy Holt, the inevitable freshman—George C. Hill; Henry Watwick, a product of "Ved"—Roy W. Grogan; "Minnet C. Docket"—Albert G. Watwick; Rodney, another Edward Woodgreen Sumner, another—Wilbur H. Berg; Hayden, another Frank H. Mueldeken; Thomas Edward, "Leland's terrible"—Roy E. Arnett.

An old man, Moose's father—Arthur H. Gould; Eleanor Thornton, who loves a man for his strength—Margaret Kent Richmond; Anne Schuyler, who loves a man for his weakness—M. M. Agnes Daly; Betty Cartwright, who loves a freshman—Agnes Harris.

Sally Middleton, Helen Lou Dickson; Katherine Stanton Lillian A. Erickson; Edith the Burned Jones, an impressionist from the "provinces"—Leda Potter; Stella Sumner—Edna C. Kruger; Vaneen Harris—Helen Mary Hamilton; Mrs. Bone, the "first" home-matron—Verna Lemore Lyon.

Mrs. Vaneen, a chaperon—Ruth Alice Hutchinson; Mrs. Curran, another—Mary W. Rantam; Inga, the maid—Eva Ethel Brooks.

To Organize a K. of C. Council.

A large number of members of the Knights of Columbus met in the office of Dr. J. J. Looze on Sunday afternoon to discuss the matter of organizing a council of the K. of C. in this city in the near future. The following members were appointed as a committee to take up the matter with the state officers at once: Atty. D. D. Conway, Chairman, A. P. Muller, Dr. A. E. Pich and R. L. Nash. At present there are about forty members of this organization in the city.

Will Be a Thing of Beauty.

The Consolidated people have had their landscape gardener at work for the past two weeks on the piece of river bank north of the McKinnon block, and the place is assuming a very decidedly improved appearance. The place has been filled in so that it presents a gradual slope, which has been sodded and laid out in flower beds, with shrubs in various places, and the sight is one calculated to please anybody who loves the beautiful.

Are Selling Stock.

Joseph Cohen has been circulating a paper among the capitalists of the city during the past couple of weeks getting subscriptions for stock for the new hall which the Old Fellows intend to erect on the lot recently purchased by them. The building will be erected by a stock company, which has been incorporated at $5,000, and they have been meeting with excellent success in the selling of stock.

Jacob Reuter Coming.

Miss J. O. Starkweather, manager for the Jacob Reuter concert company was in the city on Tuesday making arrangements for the coming of Mr. Reuter's company to this city on Monday evening next.

Mr. Reuter is now located at Milwaukee where he is acknowledged to be the violinist of that city, and he is well known here, where he has appeared several times in concert.

Parents Day.

Next Sunday is "Parents' Day" in the Congregational church and the following Sunday will be observed as Children's Day. The pastor extends a cordial invitation to all who have children in the Sunday school to attend the morning service next Sunday.

WANTED: Delivery boy. Apply Heinemann's store.

THANKSGIVING PUDDING.

Desert.

In the preparation of bread puddings the bread-whether should remain as it is, while bread in some forms used as the foundation, the ingredients, such as milk, cream, butter, eggs, dried, fresh or canned fruit, spices and flavoring, must be added with a generous hand, for in this article lies the difference between the insipid water-bread pudding studded with a few luscious currants and the delicious cabinet pudding which is considered the very acme of delectable eating.

It is also desirable, unless one is instructed to the contrary, to warm the milk after the bread is added, mixing thoroughly with a wire pot-masher or similar implement without heating, and if skimmed milk only available a tiny pinch of baking soda should be added to prevent curdling. Bake the pudding if possible in a tin or earthenware dish that has been well battered, testing it by thrusting a thin bladed silver knife into the center. If found clear upon its removal the pudding is baked.

Ginger Pudding. Upon two cups of crumbled bread crumbs pour a pint of preserved fruit, drained from a plentiful supply of ketchup, ginger, molasses, thoroughly beating with a wooden spoon to a paste. Then add one well beaten egg, the yolk and white beaten separately, a salt-spoonful of grated nutmeg, two tablespoonfuls of powdered mace and a half a cupful of the ginger cut in dice. Turn at once into an ornamental pudding mold that has been battered and steam for two hours. At serving time unmold on a hot platter and serve with a hot, foamy sauce.

Chocolate Pudding. To a quart of boiling milk allow a pint of ground bread, beating well before adding other ingredients, then stir in a small cupful of sugar, three eggs, two squares of unsweetened chocolate, flavoring with a scant half teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of vanilla extract and a little ground cinnamon. Pour into small custard cups, bake, set in a panful of hot water thirty-five minutes in a moderate oven. Allow them to cool and then place resting on the fire until ready to serve, turning them out on individual plates, garnishing with a hot, sweetened whipped cream.

How to Remove the Smell of Paint. Every one knows that an odorous, a distinct and unpleasant odor, whether cooked or raw. But every one does not know that this odor of an oil will draw to it every other disagreeable odor and clear the house at a stroke in a day.

The oil can then be thrown away and with it goes the disagreeable smell that came about in a house which has been closed for the summer.

And this is also a good thing to know: That it will absorb all the odors from fresh paint and turpentine from the house has been freshly painted and cleaned this month for the winter's occupancy the people moving in will be miserable with the smell that come from walls and floors.

After the fresh country there will be unendurable.

One onion should be cut into four places and placed about the room, two or three saucers. Allow an hour to each room, and let the saucers remain there over day and night, every bit of odor hasn't gone in a time past a few fresh pieces in four next day.

How Professionals Starch Cloth. The laundry method for starching collars and cuffs is considered by themselves to be much superior to the usual home method. After the collars and cuffs have been washed and dried they are ready for starching. Use five tablespoonfuls of starch and one-half cup of cold water, and one-half teaspoonful of borax and a cup of boiling water. Cook the starch half an hour. This is to be used by pouring on the bosoms, collars and cuffs and on the pillow from a tureen.

Starch a cloth tightly on the line and tuck it so as to keep it taut. The starch will be like jelly and should be rubbed in with the fingers, rubbing is not complete until the cloth's thickness are as one, and starch then must be wiped from the sides with a damp cloth.

How to Remove Rust Spots. Whenever the ordinary household eyes have been used on light-colored fabrics there are almost sure to be spots of iron rust as a result. The first thing to do is to rip off the tatters and get the rustless kind.

Then rub each spot of rust with a piece of lemon and wash out thoroughly. It may be necessary to repeat this three times, but it is worth the trouble. If you haven't this preparation, plain lemon juice. Soak the material in it on the spot and expose to sun.

How to Remove Mildew. Should the clothes be mildewed, stains may be removed by a mixture containing equal parts of soda and starch, half as much common salt and the juice of half a lemon. It may be spread over the spots, and the article should be laid on the grass and all night until the mildew thoroughly disappears.

How to Make Use of Funnies. Several funnies made of stiff paper and kept on hand in the kitchen would be found a great convenience. They are unequaled for use when eating cereals, coffee or other dry articles in a glass jar or into the can if they are kept.

A New Metal.

A new material, called by its inventor "cork metal," has been developed for the manufacture of airplane parts. It is lighter than aluminum, and is nothing more than a mixture of magnesium with quantities of aluminum and iron. It reacts chemically with hot water, giving off hydrogen, but doubtless it will be got over in some way.

Business Courtesy.

The adage, "Courtesy costs nothing," would, if true, offer sufficient reason to insure its observance by every member of the commercial community; it being fairly obvious to most of us that courtesy is an excellent business for the manufacturer of lubricant, however, requires considerable expenditure of effort, which is well repaid by the large number of customers able of sustaining at all times.

Easy Information.

If you would know just what any of you behind your back, let them say of others.

Spoke on Conservation.

The Tribune is in receipt of a copy of a speech made by Congressman Morse recently in the house of representatives on the subject of "Conservation of our Natural Resources." We have not read the speech, but no doubt it is an interesting one, full of food for thought and pertinent facts calculated to cause all of us to be careful of the natural resources that are all-wise and merciful creator has given us.

There is probably no need of being told about a matter of this kind, but it seems to us that for a Wisconsin man to talk about the conservation of our resources at this stage of the game is very much like advising the looking of the barn after the horse is stolen.

Any man who has lived in Wisconsin during the past thirty years and watched the destruction of the most magnificent forests of pine and hardwood that this state could boast of, and that by a wanton lot of vandals who thought of nothing but the money that was to be made, is in a position to think very little of the matter of conservation of our natural resources. For the fact is that we have no natural resource any more, and it is impossible to conserve anything that you have not got.

There is a whole lot of land in Wisconsin that is of comparatively little value now, but that is due to the fact that it is not being used. It is only when it comes to the time when land becomes scarce, and it will be some time yet. If some scientist would point the way to planting this land with forests, and then induce people to do it, he would accomplish more than could possibly be done by advising the conservation of resources that have disappeared some time ago.

Wood County Teachers' Examinations.

Examinations will be held as follows: Grand Rapids, June 9, 10 and 11; Marshfield, June 13, 14 and 15; Pittsville, June 16, 17 and 18. All applicants will be required to write under the new law. Those who have had no experience must attend summer school before their certificates will be issued. The holder of a third grade certificate who has taught successfully for one year, or of second grade who has taught two years may have his certificate renewed by attending summer school for six weeks and receiving credits in at least two subjects.

Subjects in which examinations are required for a third grade certificate are: orthography, spelling, reading, penmanship, arithmetic, elementary composition and grammar, geography, U. S. history, civil government of U. S. and Wisconsin, physiology, school management, manual and agriculture. Additional subjects for second grade: physical geography, English composition, American literature and etymology and use of literary books. Additional subjects for first grade: algebra, physics, theory and art of teaching, English history, and English literature. Examinations are given early in order that the teachers may attend summer school. Dated at Arpin, Wis., May 19, 1910. ROBERT MORRIS, Co. Supt. of Schools.

ITCHING ECZEMA WASHED AWAY

—Is it worth 25 cents to you to stop that awful, agonizing itch? Surely you will spend 25 cents on your druggist's recommendation, to cool and heal and soothe that terrible itching eruption?

By arrangement with the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago, we are able to make a special offer of a 25 cent bottle of their oil of wintergreen compound, known as D. D. D. Prescription. Call or write or telephone to J. E. Daly.

We absolutely know that the itch is stopped At Once by D. D. D. Prescription, and the cures all seem to be permanent.

There is no cause for surprise in the action of the United States senate in striking out of the McCall campaign publicity bill, the requirement for a statement of contributions and expenditures before election. The senate's objection to this feature of the bill is but another evidence that the majority of the senate is not in accord with any movement looking toward election reforms. A good many of the grave and reverend senators gained their seats by methods that would not bear rigid scrutiny and they have no sympathy with the agitation for honest elections. They have a good idea of what would have been the effect in 1904 if the people had known that the insurance companies contributed $150,000 to the Standard Oil Company $100,000 to the Republican campaign fund and that Mr. Hearst raised $100,000 after an interview at the White House with the President. And they are not unmindful that there are congressional elections coming in November which will require heavy contributions from the "interests" to save the entire rout of the plutocratic host.—Appleton Crescent.

What a Summer Cold May Do.

A summer cold if neglected is just as apt to develop into bronchitis or pneumonia as at any other season. Do not neglect it. Take Foley's Kidney and Bladder Pills. It loosens the cough, soothes and heals the inflamed air passages, and expels the cold from the system. Johnson & Hill Co. and J. E. Daly.

SIGEL

On Monday, May 23rd occurred the marriage of Miss Ethel Sigel and James Polot. Both well known young people. Misses Nettie Hildick and Mary Stenot were bridesmaids and Messrs. Joe and Frank Radtke were groomsmen. Following the wedding ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents where many relatives and friends assembled to celebrate the event, about two hundred guests being invited. A large bowery had been built and dancing was kept up all day and night by the young people. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. John Hildick and is a most estimable young lady who is exceptionally well equipped to do her part in the establishment of a happy home. Mr. Polot is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Polot of Sherry and a popular young man. Mr. and Mrs. Polot expect to go to housekeeping at Sherry where the groom owns a farm. Their many friends extend congratulations.

Miss Mabel Polansky and Wm. Hanne were married this morning at St. John's Lutheran church at eleven o'clock. Rev. Wm. Knutson, of Grand Rapids officiating. After the ceremony a beautiful wedding feast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Polansky to a large number of relatives and friends. Both of the contracting parties were raised here and have a large circle of friends who wish them a happy wedded life.

Mrs. Peter Mohrberg returned last week from Merrill where she had been visiting at the home of her son, Elmer.

Peter Mohrberg spent Sunday visiting with his family. Mr. Mohrberg has just finished a contract of grading two miles of track for the St. Paul Ry. and taken another four mile contract at Rockland for the same company. He expects to move his camp from Kainer to Rockland the latter part of this week.

If anyone is satisfied after using according to directions two-thirds of a bottle of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, you can have your money back. The tablets cleanse the system, regulate the bowels, give the digestion, regulate the bowels. Give them a trial and get well. Sold by all dealers.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Guenther of Manitowish were Sunday visitors at the Elm Blanche home. They expect to move to Grand Rapids next month. Mr. Guenther having accepted a position with the Oberlin Co.

There will be a big dance at Whier's hall on Saturday night. Ed Brantfort of Rudolph has taken temporary charge of the Chas. Johnson saloon.

John Hills of Belvidere, Ill., is spending the week in our city. John Pyrch returned home from Hazelhurst last week to spend the summer at his home here.

A large number of people from Grand Rapids and vicinity attended the Polot-Hildick wedding.

John Polot recently sold two horses, one to Martin Prince the other to Andrew Pearson.

Mrs. Otto Holsinger has returned home from her visit at Mrs. E. J. Daly's. She was employed at Neenah, spent Sunday of last week at her home here.

Miss Edith Johnson spent Saturday of last week at the Morris home at Arpin.

Frank Rokus has returned to Hazelhurst after a visit with home folks.

School closed in Dist. No. 1 last Friday with Miss Edith Johnson as teacher.

"It cured me," or "It saved the life of my child," are the expressions you hear every day about Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This is true the world over where this valuable remedy has been introduced. No other medicine in use for diarrhoea or colic can compare with it. It has received general approval. The secret of the success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is that it cures. Sold by all dealers.

Scared Into Sound Health.
Mr. B. F. Kelley, Springfield, Ill., writes: "A year ago I began to be troubled with my kidneys and bladder, which grew worse until I became afflicted at my condition. I suffered with dull heavy headaches and the action of my bladder was annoying and painful. I read of Foley's Kidney Pills and after taking them a few weeks the headaches left me, the action of my bladder was again normal, and I was free of all distress." Johnson & Hill Co. and J. E. Daly.

REMINGTON

Grover Stout of Babcock and Miss Mildred Dixon of Grand Rapids were married on Wednesday, May 25th, at Pittsville, Rev. Willmar performing the ceremony. The groom is a young man of industrious habits and keeps a store in the village of Babcock. The bride is a most estimable young lady, having taught school at Babcock a year. Both of the young people are well and favorably known here and have a number of friends who wish them a long and happy wedded life.

C. S. Lowe made a business trip to City Point last Wednesday. Miss Lettoux was a guest at the Daniels home one day last week. Mrs. Rodie and son of Nekosha were guests at the Hass home the fore part of last week.

Gus Sanger and Wm. Adamshack of Nekosha visited at the Sanger home last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Karboskie have gone on their wedding trip to Michigan.

Miss Pearl LeRoux, teacher in Dist. No. 2, visited with her parents at Sherry last Saturday and Sunday. C. S. Lowe visited with relatives in Tomah last week.

R. F. Hass, the town chairman, made a business trip to City Point last Saturday.

Miss Minnie White visited with friends and relatives in Tomah several days last week.

Miss LeRoux was the guest of her uncle and family at Port Edwards on Friday and Saturday.

Glad to Recommend Them.

Mr. E. Weakley, Kokomo, Ind., says: "After taking Foley's Kidney and Bladder Pills, my kidneys became stronger, the secretions natural and my bladder no longer pained me. I am glad to recommend Foley's Kidney Pills to a yellow package." Johnson & Hill Co. and J. E. Daly.

NEKOOSA.

(From the Times.)

Fire totally destroyed the home of Peter Vandenberg in the town of Arpin last Tuesday evening and none of the contents were saved. Mrs. Vandenberg and her son were out milking at about 8 o'clock and were nearly through when Mrs. Vandenberg heard a crackling noise and saw the building in flames. It was then too late to try to enter the house and everything inside was burned and destroyed, including a new cream separator recently purchased.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Nash, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Wolf, Dr. and Mrs. Geo. Pomarville, Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Part, Victor Carey and Miss Elizabeth Nash attended the Catholic Foresters banquet at Grand Rapids last Monday evening at which 350 persons were served, a three course supper being served by the ladies of the Catholic Foresters. The Foresters initiated a class of 50. The banquet was followed by speeches and dancing.

Siegfried Rice left Tuesday noon for Fond du Lac where he was married to Miss Josephine Schaefer on Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Rice will reside at Ishpeming, Mich., where the former will have charge of the Greenback dry goods store. Nekosha friends extend best wishes, hoping that the happy couple may live long and prosper.

Yesterday morning at ten thirty o'clock occurred the wedding of Miss Helen Fellows and Mr. Albert Helke, Rev. Aldo Raymond of this city officiating. The groomsmen were Arthur Helke while Miss Elsie Peterson acted as bridesmaid.

The main line of the Wood County telephone lines here is to be moved from Prospect avenue to Vilas avenue where the street railway will not interfere with the service.

Stomach Troubles.

Many remarkable cures of stomach troubles have been effected by Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. One man who had spent over two thousand dollars for medicine and treatment was cured by a few boxes of these tablets. Price, 25 cents. Samples free at Daly's drug store.

PITTSVILLE.

(From the Record.)

A conference is being held today at Pleasant Hill church by a committee composed of one each of the congregations of Vesper, Pleasant Hill and Pittsville to decide on a pastor for the three places comprising a new circuit decided on by the Rev. Dr. Carter of Beloit, Secretary of the Congregational Home Mission of Wisconsin. Rev. A. F. Klein of Sherry, who has been in the city for a week or so past and who has held services at each of the three places is being talked of to fill the pulpits of the circuit. It has been hard work for the congregation here to procure a pastor for the reason that the state authorities could not furnish the same, there being a dearth of pastors at the present time in this denomination.

Nash Mitchell has shipped two barrels of clay to be found on his farm south of the city to a man in Illinois. The shipment is for experimental purposes and the gentleman expects to try it out and if satisfactory come here and make arrangements for the working of the bed. He is superintendent of a big clay works in the Illinois town and wishes to get into business for himself. He became acquainted with the prospects here when he was through here a short time ago.

Grover O. Stout and Miss Mildred Dixon were married at the Catholic church in the city this morning at 7 o'clock by Father Willmar. Both young people are from Babcock, and are well and favorably known. They will reside at Babcock where Mr. Stout runs a grocery store. The people of this city will wish them a long and happy wedded life.

Eddie Bass, son of Fred Bass, who lives east of here in the town of Hanson, is suffering under strange delusions. His mind is unbalanced and it is necessary for a constant watch to be kept over him. He has been in this condition about ten days.

MEEHAN

Decoration day services were a complete success here Monday although the weather was very windy and cold. The school house with the stars and stripes floating over it was filled with patriotic people many of whom came from a distance. The program by the children was very interesting as well as an address by Rev. Raymond. After the program everyone joined in line and headed by the life and drum corps marched to the cemetery where the Sons of Veterans ritual service was used. The graves of the soldiers and soldiers wives and also other graves were decorated by the young hands of the children. So once again we feel that we have done our duty and showed our respect to our sleeping heroes and friends.

E. F. Felch of Amherst Junction transacted business here last Friday. Ed Hoffman made a business trip to Michigan last week. Roy J. Leith of Marshfield, agent for the Watkins Medical Co., was here last week transacting business. The old Mrs. Benson is in a very serious condition. As she is very old there is little hope for her recovery. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Fields of Plainfield visited with relatives here Saturday and Sunday. They were also among those from a distance to attend the Decoration day services here.

Dr. Walters, the Stevens Point mayor, was seen on our streets one day last week.

Miss Hazel Marsh of Stevens Point was the guest of Miss Nellie Gustafson last Tuesday.

Two Ways.
One man sees a raccoon or squirrel close at hand, and is greatly interested in its wild beauty and pleasing independence. Another man sees it, and mourns for his gun that he might kill it, out of pure love of slaughter. Its innocence and love of life mean nothing to him. One enjoys the brotherhood of all life—great and small; the other would shed sorrow and trouble on the innocent.—Farm Journal.

KELLNER.

Aug. Gleboke was a week end visitor at Nekosha.

Will Warren and Wm. Blood were visitors at the Blood home one day last week.

Mrs. Wm. Witt and two sons, Leonard and Eddie, visited with Grand Rapids relatives last Friday. Miss Adella Peickard spent Sunday at the parsonage.

Fred Grey was the lucky man last Saturday to receive the set of dishes given away by G. H. Manroo. Anyone in need of a good remodeled hay rake call and see M. Winger, the blacksmith.

The Ladies Aid society of the Lutheran church met at the Chas. Voight home.

Mr. and Mrs. Sebasty of Stevens Point are visiting the Nick Rosenthal family.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will brace up the nervous, banish sick headache, prevent drowsiness and invigorate the whole system. Sold by all dealers.

Mrs. Theo. Steinke was called to Wild Rose on Saturday by the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. Wm. Witt.

Mr. Hjerstrand's nephew, Mr. Anderson, of Chicago is visiting him for a short time.

Mrs. Fred Rickoff was on the sick list last week.

Walter Bass and his mother and Mrs. Chas. Gassel and son Leslie spent Sunday in your city.

ARPIN

We are all glad to learn that John Byrnes is able to be at home again and is doing nicely, having recently underwent an operation for appendicitis at the hospital at Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Otto Krause is visiting friends and relatives at Chippewa Falls for an indefinite time.

Mr. McKercher and son of Marshfield did some surveying in this town Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Ed Morris was a Grand Rapids visitor Thursday.

Miss Lena McIlrath departed on Tuesday for Milwaukee to visit with friends and relatives for an indefinite time.

Miss Pearl Ellis, who has been teaching in Dist. No. 3 the past two months, since the resignation of Mr. Frost, closed her school Friday, May 27th, with an entertainment in the evening. Miss Ellis returned to her home at Stevens Point on Saturday.

A number of young people attended a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burk near Anuradale on Saturday evening. They all report a fine time.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Trotter of Green County visited a few days at the O. O. Sawin home the latter part of the week.

Mrs. Jessie Winebranner, who teaches the Arpin school, closed her school on Tuesday with a picnic which was enjoyed by all present.

Miss Louise Benz was at Grand Rapids on Saturday having some dental work done.

VESPER.

Mrs. Chas. Truetzel left on Tuesday morning for an extended visit with her relatives at North Prairie.

Miss Emma Moody of Plainfield visited friends and relatives here Sunday.

—Call and see Wilson the photographer.—2t.

A blaze which might have been serious started in the mill of the Vesper Wood Mfg. Co. last Thursday evening but owing to the prompt action of neighbors it was extinguished before much damage was done.

—Don't forget those post cards at Wilson's gallery.—2t.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Weaver and son Granville and John Poesley Sunday in Rudolph with Mrs. Weaver's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gokey.

Mrs. Ed Witte of your city spent the greater part of last week in this burg with her parents.

The children of this burg enjoyed themselves immensely at a party given by Irving Willmott at his home Friday night in honor of James Laughlin, who will soon leave with his mother for North Dakota.

Mrs. Curtis Crofteau spent one day last week with relatives at Rudolph.

Mr. and Mrs. Nio Marceau drove to Rudolph Thursday night.

There was no school here Monday, it being Decoration day.

Miss Gertrude Akey spent the fore part of the week in this burg.

Mrs. Francis Biron of Stevens Point spent Decoration day with relatives in this burg and while here decorated the grave of her lately deceased infant.

Award $100 in Prizes in Agricultural Writing.

The prize winners in the John Clay competition in agricultural writing in the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin have just been announced.

First prize was won by F. B. Morrison, Marshfield, who entered an article entitled, "More Wisconsin Farm." Second prize, $50, was won by L. F. Graber of Mineral Point, who submitted an article on "The Beef Steer in Wisconsin."

The third prize, $20, was won by G. C. Morris, Madison, who prepared an article on "The Economical Beef Production in the Northwest." The place of honorable mention was awarded C. A. LeClair, Green Bay, who wrote upon the topic, "How Wisconsin May Be Made One of the Most Important Sheep Raising States in the United States."

This competition was made possible through the offer of Mr. John Clay of Chicago of $100 in cash prizes for the best articles on live stock topics to be written by members of the Hoard Press Club in the College of Agriculture. A strong competition resulted, articles of superior merit being entered.

Spoke on Conservation.

The Tribune is in receipt of a copy of a speech made by Congressman Morse recently in the house of representatives on the subject of "Conservation of our Natural Resources." We have not read the speech, but no doubt it is an interesting one, full of food for thought and pertinent facts calculated to cause all of us to be careful of the natural resources that an all-wise and merciful creator has given us.

There is probably no need of being mean about a matter of this kind, but it seems to us that for a Wisconsin man to talk about the conservation of our resources at this stage of the game is very much like advising the lackey of the barn after the horse is stolen.

Any man who has lived in Wisconsin during the past thirty years and watched the destruction of the most magnificent forests of pine and hardwood that any state could boast of, and that by a waste of land of vandals who thought of nothing but the money that was to be made, is in a position to think very little of the matter of conservation of our natural resources. For the fact is that we have no natural resources any more, and it is impossible to conserve anything that you have not got.

There is a whole lot of land in Wisconsin that is of comparatively little value, now that the timber is gone. It may come into farming land at some future time when land becomes scarce, but it will be some time yet. If some scientist would point the way to planting this land with forests, and then induce people to do it, he would accomplish more than could possibly be done by advising the conservation of resources that have disappeared some time ago.

Wood County Teachers' Examinations.

Examinations will be held as follows: Grand Rapids, June 9, 10 and 11; Marshfield, June 12, 13 and 14; Pittsville, June 16, 17 and 18.

All applicants will be required to write under the new law. Those who have had no experience must attend summer school before their certificates will be issued. The holder of a third grade certificate who has taught successfully for one year, or of a second grade who has taught two years may have his certificate renewed by attending summer school for six weeks and receiving credits in at least two subjects.

Subjects in which examinations are required for a third grade certificate are: orthography, spelling, reading, penmanship, arithmetic, elementary composition and grammar, geography, U. S. history, civil government of U. S. and Wisconsin, physiology, school management, manual and agriculture. Additional subjects for second grade: physical geography, English composition, American literature and cataloging and use of library books. Additional subjects for first grade: algebra, physics, theory and art of teaching, English history, and English literature. Examinations are given only in order that the teachers may attend summer school.

Dated at Arpin, Wis., May 19, 1910.

Co. Supt. of Schools.

ITCHING ECZEMA WASHED AWAY

—Is it worth 25 cents to you to stop that awful, agonizing itch? Surely you will spend 25 cents on your druggist's recommendation, to cool and heal and soothe that terrible itching eruption?

By arrangement with the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago, we are able to make a special offer of a 25 cent bottle of their oil of wintergreen compound, known as D. D. D. Prescription, Call, or write or telephone to J. R. Daly.

We absolutely know that the itch is stopped. At Chicago by D. D. D. Prescription, and the cures all seem to be permanent.

There is no cause for surprise in the action of the United States senate in striking out of the McCall campaign publicity bill, the requirement for a statement of contributions and expenditures before election. The senate's objection to this feature of the bill is but another evidence that the majority of the senate is not in accord with any movement looking toward election reforms. A good many of the grave and revered senators gained their seats by methods that would not bear rigid scrutiny and they have no sympathy with the agitation for honest elections. They have a good idea of what would have been the effect in 1904 if the people had known that the insurance companies contributed $160,000 and the Standard Oil Company $100,000 to the Republican campaign fund and that Mr. Harrison raised $100,000 after an interview at the White House with the President. And they are not unmindful of those rare congressional elections coming in November which will require heavy contributions from the "interests" to save the entire roat of the platocratic host.—Appleton Crescent.

What a Summer Cold May Do.

A summer cold if neglected is just as apt to develop into bronchitis or pneumonia as at any other season. Do not neglect it. Take Foley's Kidney and Bladder Pills. It loosens the cough, soothes and heals the inflamed air passages, and expels the cold from the system. Johnson & Hill Co. and J. R. Daly.

SIGEL.

On Monday, May 2nd occurred the marriage of Miss Thelma Sigel and James Deloit, both well known young people. Miss Sigel (Hillick) and Mr. Deloit were both graduates of the University of Wisconsin and were both graduates of the University of Wisconsin. Following the wedding ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents where many relatives and friends assembled to celebrate the event. About two hundred guests being invited. A large banquet hall was hired and dining was kept up all day and night by the young people. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. John Hillick and is a most estimable young lady who is exceptionally well equipped to do her part in the establishment of a happy home. Mr. Deloit is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Deloit of Sherry and a popular young man. Mr. and Mrs. Deloit expect to go to home-keeping at Sherry where the groom owns a farm. Their many friends extend congratulations.

Miss Mabel Polansky and Wm. Hanks were married this morning at St. John's Lutheran church at eleven o'clock. Rev. Wm. Nommensen of Grand Rapids officiating. After the wedding service a beautiful wedding feast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Polansky to a large number of relatives and friends. Both of the contracting parties were raised here and have a large circle of friends who wish them a happy wedded life.

"It cured me," or "It saved the life of my child," are the expressions you hear every day about Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This is true the world over where this valuable remedy has been introduced. No other medicine in use for diarrhoea or bowel complaints has received such general approval. The secret of the success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is that it cures. Sold by all dealers.

Scared Into Sound Health.

Mr. B. F. Kelley, Springfield, Ill., writes: "A year ago I began to be troubled with my kidneys and bladder, which grew worse until I became alarmed at my condition. I suffered also with dull heavy headaches and the action of my bladder was annoying and painful. I read of Foley's Kidney Pills and after taking them a few weeks the headaches left me, the action of my bladder was again normal, and I was free of all distress." Johnson & Hill Co. and J. R. Daly.

REMINGTON

Grover Stout of Babcock and Miss Mildred Dixon of Grand Rapids were married on Wednesday, May 25th, at Pittsville, Rev. Willitzer performing the ceremony. The groom is a young man of industrious habits and keeps a store in the village of Babcock. The bride is a most estimable young lady, having taught school at Babcock a year. Mr. E. Winkley, Kokomo, Ind., says: "After taking Foley's Kidney Pills, the severe backache left me, my kidneys became stronger, the secretions natural and my bladder no longer pained me. I am glad to recommend Foley's Kidney Pills." In a yellow package. Johnson & Hill Co. and J. R. Daly.

NEKOOSA.

Two local deaths at the home of Peter Vandenberg in the town of Antwerp last Tuesday evening and those of the citizens were sick. Mrs. Vandenberg and her son were out walking at about 8 o'clock and were nearly killed when Mrs. Vandenberg heard a cracking noise and saw the building in flames. It was too late to try to enter the house and everything inside was burned and destroyed, including a new steam radiator recently purchased.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Nash, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wolf, Dr. and Mrs. Geo. Pommeroy, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Bart, Eugene Garay and Miss Elizabeth Nash attended the Catholic Bazaar banquet at Grand Rapids last Monday evening at which 300 persons were present, a three course supper being served by the ladies of the Catholic church. The Foresters initiated a class at 7. The banquet was followed by speeches and dancing.

Surgeon Lee left Tuesday noon for Port du Lac where he was married by Miss Josephine Schuessler on Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Lee will reside at Ishpeming, Mich., where the former will have charge of the Grunewald dry goods store. ## Stomach Troubles.

PITTSVILLE.

A conference is being held today at Pleasant Hill church by a committee composed of one each of the congregations of Vesper, Pleasant Hill and Pittsville to decide on a pastor for the three places composing a new circuit decided on by the Rev. Dr. Carter of Baldy, Secretary of the Congregational Home Mission of Wisconsin. Rev. A. P. Klein of Sherry, who has been in the city for a week or so past and who has held services at each of the three places is being talked of to fill the pulpit of the circuit. It has been hard work for the congregation here to procure a pastor for the reason that the state authorities could not furnish the same, there being a dearth of pastors at the present time in this denomination.

Nash Mitchell has shipped two barrels of clay to be found on his farm south of the city to a man in Illinois. The shipment is for experimental purposes and the gentleman expects to try it out and if satisfactory come here and make arrangements for the working of the bed.

He is superintendent of a big clay works in the Illinois town and wishes to get into business for himself. He became acquainted with the prospects here when he was through here a short time ago.

Edith Buss, son of Fred Buss, who lives east of here in the town of Hanson, is suffering under strange delusions. His mind is unbalanced and it is necessary for a constant watch to be kept over him. He has been in this condition about ten days.

MEEHAN

Decoration day services were a complete success here Monday although the weather was very windy and cold. The school houses with the stars and stripes floating over it was filled with patriotic people many of whom came from a distance. The program by the children was very interesting as well as an address by Rev. Raymond. After the program everyone joined in line and headed by the fife and drum corps marched to the cemetery where the Sons of Veterans ritual service was held. The graves of the soldiers and soldiers wives and also other graves were decorated by the loving hands of the children. So once again we feel that we have done our duty and showed our respect to our sleeping heroes and friends.

R. B. Polish of Ansonia Junction transacted business here last Friday.

Ed Hoffman made a business trip to Michigan last week.

Roy J. Colth of Marshfield, agent for the Watkins Medical Co., was here last week transacting business.

The old Mrs. Benson is in a very serious condition. As she is very old there is little hope for her recovery.

Dr. Walters, the Stevens Point mayor, was seen on our streets one day last week.

Miss Hazel Marsh of Stevens Point was the guest of Miss Nellie Gestin last Tuesday.

Two Ways.

One man sees a raccoon or squirrel close at hand, and is greatly interested in its wild beauty and pleasing independence. Another man sees it, and morns for his gun that he might kill it, out of pure love of slaughter. Its innocence and love of life mean nothing to him. One enjoys the brotherhood of all life—great and small; the other would shed sorrow and trouble on the innocent.—Farm Journal.

KELLNER.

Award $100 in Prizes in Agricultural Writing.

The prize winners in the John Clay competition in agricultural writing in the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin have just been announced.

First prize was won by F. B. Morrison, Marshfield, who entered an article entitled "More Wisconsin Parks." Second prize, $50, was won by L. J. Graber of Mineral Point, who submitted an article on "The Beef Steer in Wisconsin." The third prize, $20, was won by G. C. Morris, Madison, who prepared an article on "The Economical Beef Production in the Northwest." The place of honorable mention was awarded C. A. LeChair, Green Bay, who wrote upon the topic, "How Wisconsin May Be Made One of the Most Important Sheep Raising States in the United States."

This competition was made possible through the offer of Mr. John Clay of Chicago of $100 in cash prizes for the best articles on live stock topics to be written by members of the Hound Press Club in the College of Agriculture. A strong competition resulted, articles of superior merit being entered.

Dunt Sir:—At a special meeting of the common council, Saturday evening, April 30th, the mayor made the appointment of J. F. Seidl as supervisor for the second ward to fill the vacancy caused by the death of E. R. Tarbox elect, said appointment was duly confirmed by the council.

Olus Houston, City Clerk.

John Werner, Mayor.

Supervisors Seidl and Hiltgart swore in by the clerk and on motion duly voted as members of the board.

The board then proceeded to the election of a chairman for the ensuing year.

Supervisor Brown moved that the Chair appoint three tellers, motion duly seconded and carried and Chair appointed Supervisors Kilday, Schroeder and Hasbrouck.

Supervisor Mulroy moved that we take a recess until 3 o'clock. Motion prevailed.

3 o'clock.

Board reconvened and proceeded to the election of chairman.

The result of the first ballot was as follows:

Total number of votes cast was	42
of which number A. E. Bennett received	22
O. G. Lindemann received	19
And E. M. Deming received	1

42 42

A. E. Bennett having received a majority of all votes cast was duly declared elected chairman of this board for the ensuing year.

Mr. Bennett took the chair and thanked the board for the honor conferred upon him by the members.

Supervisor Worland moved that the rules governing the Board two years ago be adopted by this Board for the ensuing year. The motion was tried.

Supervisor Goggins moved that Monesia Dunn be allowed to address his Board on the question of the adoption of the coupon ballot. Motion prevailed, and Mr. Dunn addressed the board.

Supervisor Lindemann moved and the same was duly seconded and carried that when we adjourn it shall be until 2 o'clock p. m., Wednesday. The Board adjourned until 2 o'clock p. m., Wednesday.

Wednesday, May 4th, 1910. 2 o'clock p. m.

The Board met pursuant to adjournment and was called to order by E. Bennett, Chairman.

The clerk called the roll, all members present except Supervisors Seidl and Brown.

Section 704 (As amended by Ch. 105, 1903, and Sec. 5 Ch. 416, 1905) Every register of deeds shall receive the following fees, to-wit:

"For making a new tract index upon the order of the county board such sum may be fixed by the county board, not exceeding two cents for each entry, to be paid from the county treasury."

Section 705-707 (As amended by Ch. 237, 1903.) "The register shall also keep a tract index of estate books, so ruled and arranged that opposite to the description of each quarter section, sectional lot, town, city or village, or other subdivision of land in the county, which a convenient arrangement may require to be noted, there shall be a blank space of at least four square inches in which he shall enter in red ink the letter or number indicating each volume, and in black or blue ink the class of records such volume, designating mortgages by the letter M deeds by the letter D, and miscellaneous by the abbreviation MIS., and the register of attachments, sales and notices by the letter R, together with the page of each volume upon which any deed, mortgage or other instrument affecting the title mentioning such tract or any part thereof shall heretofore have been recorded or may be hereafter be recorded or entered;

Provided, that no such index shall be kept in any county where no such index exists until ordered by the county board to be made, but no such index when once made in any county, shall ever thereafter be discontinued, unless such county has or shall adopt, keep and maintain a complete abstract of title to the real estate therein as a part of the records of the office of the register of deeds thereof."

To the Honorable:—The County Board of Supervisors of Wood County, Wisconsin, Gentlemen:—The foregoing provisions of law comprise all of the statutes which have come to my notice relating to the transcription of records in the office of the register of deeds which have become unfit for use from any cause.

On the 20th of Nov., 1903, the following resolution was introduced and adopted by your honorable body, to-wit:

"Moved that the special committee on tract indexing, in their discretion cause to be made a new tract index using the old tract indexes so far as possible for that purpose, for use in the office of the register of deeds of Wood county for such purpose are hereby authorized to purchase such system of books, loose leaf or otherwise, as they shall deem best and are further authorized and directed to let such work to the lowest competent bidder having the required skill at a price not to exceed two cents per entry to be paid from the county treasury; and that the committee be further empowered in their discretion to reject any and all bids and re-advertise."

It appears that pursuant to such resolution your committee advertised for bids in an aggregate lump sum and not on the basis of a certain amount per entry, that the bids in such form have been received and opened and that the lowest bid is the lump sum of $1000.00.

Permit me in behalf of, and as attorney for E. E. Ames, the register of deeds of your county, to say:

That the tract indexes are a part of the public records and as such are in the exclusive care, custody and keeping of the register of deeds. They are made such records by virtue of Sect. 10 of Chapt. 112 R. S. 1819 and Chapt. 332 laws of 1864 and amendments thereto subsequently enacted, which amendments are hereinbefore noted.

Such tract indexes are recognized by the courts as part of the records affecting title to real estate. In the case of Land and River Imp. Co. vs. Bardon; 45th Federal reports page 706, Judge Bunn says in reference to a tract index which had been transcribed pursuant to Sect. 690.

"The defects complained of in the original, (tract index) were corrected in the copy and in as much as the copy was the one in common use, the record of the tax deed would be void from the time the copy was made."

It seems questionable whether any person other than the register would have the right to use the office room and the records for the purpose of transcribing same without the consent of the register of deeds, besides this, the statute specifically provides that tract indexes shall be made by the register, and then adds for use shall be transcribed by him, and such transcripts properly certified, and the order requiring it recorded at length by the register of deeds in the copy so made. There does not seem to be any other way provided to give authority and credence to the copy.

The original act, Chapt. 332 laws of 1864 expressly provides that "The register of deeds shall procure suitable book or books," and make and keep said indexes if ordered to do so prior to Dec. 1st, 1864; provided that the act did not apply to counties which then had a general tract index of any kind.

Subsequent enactments provide that in counties where such tract indexes exist they shall never be discontinued, and further expressly provide how, and in what manner, and by whom, and by what authority, old, or otherwise unfit records shall be restored and transcribed.

I would suggest that the county board does not seem to have the power to let such work by contract or to authorize this to be done by any person other than the register of deeds. The statute fully protects the public from exorbitant charges by providing that the compensation shall be fixed by the county board, in the case of tract indexes, at not exceeding two cents per entry for each entry.

You will note, that the statute provides that the expense shall be paid from the county treasury, and expressly gives the fee for such work to the register of deeds.

To enable the register to certify such copies or such new tract index it would be necessary for him to compare every entry therein with the original tract index, or with the records; and he might be adjudged entitled to the maximum fee provided by law. I presume there are some members of the county board who will remember, and others who have heard of a case which arose in the circuit court of this county, King vs. Kroner, wherein the plaintiff claimed and recovered his legal fees as register of deeds for work done by the defendant, acting as register by holding over unlawfully.

Very Respectfully Yours,

J. W. Cochran, Atty. for E. E. Ames, Register of Deeds.

Report of Nash Mitchell, Supervisor of Assessment.

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Wood County, Wisconsin.

Gentlemen:—My investigations of the assessments of the various districts of the county have led me to a point where I feel it my duty to call your attention to certain matters, to the end that a more equitable assessment may be had this year.

I will call your attention to some of the circumstances that have likely led up to the conditions that exist.

In the past too many assessors have made a practice of simply copying the old roll including all the uneven and discriminating valuation of the past attempting to assess real estate at some imaginary percentage of its true value and the personal at some other imaginary percentage instead of assessing all taxable property as the law directs at its true value. This of course does not apply to all assessors; as some do make an effort to value property at near its true value and should receive due credit for their work.

However there has been a sufficient number, who have followed the wrong practice and the result is that from a comparison of the assessed with the determined true values, it would seem evident that nothing but a series of what might be termed "broad guesses" could have produced such results. The blame does not lie wholly with such assessors; for without a general sentiment of his district favoring a legitimate assessment there are few men who possess the required stability of character to make an assessment as the law directs and his oath binds him to do. It is a generally acknowledged fact that no man possesses the necessary qualifications to assess any district at its absolutely true value yet there should not be such a wide range of ratios as we now have to deal with. While I fully

A GAS LEAK.

AFTER Reavetta That May Come From Munting It With a Light.

The folly of hunting for a leak in a gas pipe with a lighted match is not so much because of the danger of an explosion as of other damage, as is shown by the experience of a householder not long ago.

One or two small leaks were detected by tapping over all the pipes and holding a lighted match to them. The smell of gas ceased, but was replaced a few hours later by the smell of burning wood.

A month later to the cellar at a charred floor joist a little hole was found in a gas pipe. There was no apparent cause for this until a very close search revealed the fact that the finding of a tiny jet of gas which was issuing from the pipe beneath the hearth.

It was lighted, but was so small as to be blue in color and nearly invisible. It had been lighted by the match used in the first investigation, but had not been noticed.

"If that leak had happened to be in a lead pipe instead of an iron connection," said a gas man, "there would probably have been work for the fire brigade. The smallest possible jet of lighted gas issuing through lead will in a few minutes melt the lead and make the leak larger until a big flame is issuing."

"This may make a fire some time in the dead of night or at a time when no one is in the house. The only proper way to look for these very small leaks is to use a soap-suds-suspended pipe which will reveal the smallest leak as with a smooth soap bubble. Just as in the case of a bicycle tire, the thinnest leak will blow a bubble in the suds, and you are," — London Telegraph.

MEXICAN JACALS.

Primitive Huts in the Villages of the Native Indians.

The Mexican Indian huts in the villages and upon the ranches of the lower Rio Grande border region of Texas have a style of architecture and construction that is distinctly their own. This type of primitive building is rapidly passing out of existence. At many places on the border families of Mexicans have abandoned their huts and moved into more pretentious homes.

No money outfit is necessary in erecting the old style picturesque structures. The only material needed is of carpentry needed. A double row of upright poles firmly set, or driven into the ground forms the framework for the walls. Between these two rows of poles are placed other poles or sticks of shorter length, forming a thick-and-thin wall. The ends of each of the four corners of the building posts are set, reaching to a height of about eight feet. Roughly hewn stringers are laid from one post to another, and to these stringers are tied other poles that form the framework of the walls. The strong fiber from the maguey plant or other species of huchuca is used for the poles into position. The rafters are tied to the ridgepole and the stringers in the same manner. At one end of the building is built the opening through which the smoke of the fire in the hearth may come. Stoves are unknown among the Mexicans, and the cooking is all done upon the ground. — Kansas City Star.

She Was Slow.

The shop assistant had shown and reshown the toys to the undecided shopper.

Toys, dolls, monkeys, jacks-in-the-box, jumping jack, train, windmills, — everything had been displayed, manipulated, operated and explained to the shopper, but still she could not make up her mind.

"I wanted to get something suitable for my little nephew," she reiterated for the thousandth time.

"Yes, madam," responded the weary assistant. "You told me that when your came in, but I think your nephew has outgrown all these toys while you have been at this counter." — London Opinion.

His Translation.

A dignified elder of an Australian church was presiding at a charitable concert. A Miss Brown was to sing "Ora Pro Nobis," but at the last moment she failed to appear. The hymn was passed to the chairman intimating that she would give "The Song That Reached My Heart."

He therefore made the following announcement: "Miss Brown will be singing 'Ora Pro Nobis,' which, being translated, means 'The Song That Reached My Heart.'" — London Chronicle.

No Hurry.

He—Then you have decided to accept my proposal of marriage and hand? She—Yes, dear. He—Thank—You have made me the happiest of men, but we must have some regard for the old maxim and not be married in haste. She—Don't worry about that. am perfectly willing to wait till next week. — Los Angeles Times.

Maple Drap Cakes.

Two cups of maple syrup, one-half cup of cream or milk, two eggs, one-half cup of melted butter, three teaspoons of baking powder, four eggs beaten to make a stiff batter. Bake in gem pans. — Good Housekeeping.

The Announcement Followed.

She—They say there are germs in influenza. Now, what do you suppose a girl could catch that way? He—A husband. — Ladies Home Journal.

A pound of care will not pay an ounce of debt.—Dutch Proverb.

Russia's People.

The population of Russia is actually growing at a rate of one and one-half per cent. per annum, and is now the most important country on the globe; but even in France does so large a proportion of the population belong to the land-owning class, providing a necessary condition for the agricultural prosperity of the coming generation. The number of the middle and lower middle class is rapidly increasing, and the nobility has diminished by a third; yet the price of land has risen in every part of the empire. — Review of Reviews.

The Rare Gift of Courtesy.

Courtesy includes not merely social adroitness, graces of speech, absence of rudeness, but honorable treatment of business associates, and of all the fellow citizens with whom a man of affairs may have business to transact. It is not American to keep order in the street, to admit no one into the house, to admit all day at the door because it is poor, and to grant another citizen an interview because it is believed he is rich. Wisdom is not conceded in a purse, and frequently much wisdom may be learned from a poor man.

Uncle Walt on "The Sorrel Cow"

A sorrel cow, one pleasant day, ran round and round a stack of hay and kicked its heels, and pawed the land, and reared and jumped to beat the band. The older horses stood around and swallowed fodder by the pound, and gave no notice to the kid that gaily round the haystack slid. I loaded along and murmured, then: "If horses were as mean as men, some old gray workhorse, stiff and sour, would paw that colt for half an hour; methinks I hear that workhorse say: 'You think you're mighty smooth and gay, and you are fresh and sporty now, but when they hitch you to the plow, and strap a harness on your back, and work you till your lumbars crack, and kick you when you want to balk, and slag you with a clunk of rock, and cover you with nasty sores, and leave you freezing out of doors—O, then you won't kick up your heels! You'll know, then, how a workhorse feels!' But horses have no croaking voice, to chaff the colt that would require; no graybeard brag will leave its feed to make the heart of childhood bleed; no dismal prophecies are heard, no moral homilies uttered, where horses stand and eat their hay, and so the colts may run and play!"

Seven Cities Declare War

Seven Wisconsin cities have simultaneously begun their battle against consumption, along their skirmish lines and are now getting definite facts upon the strength of the enemy.

Oshkosh, Stevens Point, Wausau, Black River Falls, Eau Claire, Monmouth and LaCrosse have taken the field. Enthusiasm runs high in each city and the local committees have accepted the proposal of the state anti-tuberculosis association to give its utmost assistance in beginning local surveys and intensive campaigns directed against the existence of tuberculosis.

The findings of the Milwaukee investigation, now almost completed, have aroused interest on the part of the fighting organizations which has elicited anything hitherto manifested in Milwaukee, a strong combination has been effected which will pursue the combat along lines that are responsible for the success of labor organizations, great commercial combinations and any other great far-reaching enterprise.

The seven cities which have determined to declare war have just been visited by Miss Gotsdiner, the trained field worker of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association. Miss Gotsdiner took a prominent part in the survey at Milwaukee, which city claimed first attention because it presents the largest and most difficult problems. The seven cities were chosen because of a spontaneous desire to better local conditions, which led them to make demands upon the association, and secondly for reasons of expediency.

One of the tangible results already recorded is an increased registration of existing cases. The association is bearing down hard upon the registration problem as being a removable factor in the spreading of the disease to innocent and unprepared victims.

The physicians of Wausau have already endorsed the registration law and are determined that it shall be observed and enforced.

CARP GOOD TO EAT

SAYS GOV. DAVIDSON

Madison, Wis., May 23.—Gov. Davidson today contributed to a discussion regarding the purging of the lakes of carp which were imported some years ago by the national government and which have been a source of great annoyance to fishermen.

Recently the local afternoon papers started a controversy declaring that carp were edible, as edible as any other fish when properly prepared, and quoted several authorities.

Gov. Davidson today declared that he had eaten carps several occasions and not only lives to tell the tale but says they are just as good to eat as any other fish when properly prepared.

The governor also denounced the practice of permitting outside contractors to seine the lakes of carp and ship them out, selling them at a huge profit. He declared the practice was detrimental to the game fish even though the latter are thrown back into the lakes.

In this connection one of our citizens hands us a recipe for cooking carp, which may be tried by anybody who likes fish. The formula is as follows:

Clean the fish nicely, let it dry for two days in the sun, nail the fish to a pine board, cover with salt and after standing for two days longer, put it in oven and bake slowly for six hours. Then draw the nails out, throw the carp away and eat the nails and the board.

THROW OUT THE LINE.

Give Them Help and Many Grand Rapids People Will Be Happier.

—"Throw Out the Life Line"—The kidneys need help. They're overworked, can't get the poison filtered out of the blood. They're getting worse every minute. Will you help them? Doan's Kidney Pills have brought thousands of kidney sufferers back from the verge of despair.

Will cure any form of kidney trouble. Mrs. Emma Eaton, 340 Eleventh St., N. Grand Rapids, Wis., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have done me a great deal of good. I suffered from back-aches and sharp pains across my loins for a long time. My head ached and in the morning I was so lame that I could hardly dress myself. I often felt dizzy and languid and was subject to dizzy spells. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally brought to my attention and I procured a box. I feel better in every way since using them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McClellan Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Miss Anna Kayser returned on Monday evening from a visit of several days with friends in Maunston.

J. Hammer spent Saturday in Hancock visiting with his son John, who is employed as typist on the Hancock News.

Prof. M. H. Jackson was at Sherry on Thursday where he delivered a lecture that evening in the Presbyterian church.

Miss Leah Garlino of Merrill and Miss Annie Schrom of Junction City have been guests the past week at the E. M. Hayes home.

John S. Coulthart of Rudolph has the distinction of being the first man to make a deposit in the new Wood County National bank building.

Frank LaVigne of Wausau is visiting with relatives and friends in the city. Mr. LaVigne is thinking seriously of coming back here to live.

Mike and John Zabawa returned on Monday night from Houston, Texas, where they have been employed the past ten months operating a dredge for J. B. Arpin.

Miss Anna Daly, who is employed as stenographer in Madison, spent Sunday and Monday in this city the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Daly.

Miss Avis Glendorn, who is teaching at Colby, spent several days in the city the past week visiting at the home of her brother, J. H. Glendorn.

Get your papering, decorating, painting, kalsomining, glazing and get your house painted at a reasonable price. Let me figure on your work. Nels. Laramee, Telephone call 80, residence No. 622 South 10th St.

A. W. Ramsey has built an addition to his popcorn and peanut stand on the east side, which will enable him to handle his business in a better manner than heretofore.

Harry Webb, the stone mason, hurt his left eye quite badly on Friday. Mr. Webb was engaged in putting up a wall at the Rossier home when a piece of sharp stone flew into his eye.

The black bass season opens today, June 1st, and parties who have been catching bass right along may now take their fish home by daylight without fear of the game warden.

Mrs. Wm. Shirley and daughter Agnes of the town of Hansen were in the city on Monday to attend the Memorial services. Miss Agnes is one of the graduates in district No. 6, town of Hansen, this year.

Stevens Point is passing thru the throes of a saloon fight, an attempt being made to have license revoked for selling liquor to minors and other misdemeanor of this sort. Several cases have come up before the council, but as yet no license have been revoked.

J. R. Bloom of Neenah, who was acting in the capacity of school inspector and transient officer, spent about two weeks in this vicinity, finishing up his work here on Saturday. Mr. Bloom covered practically the entire county making his headquarters in this city and his trips by automobile, putting in nine days at the work.

He states that he never spent a more enjoyable time than he has in Wood County, and that much of the scenery was as fine as he ever saw anywhere.

T. E. Nash last week resigned from the directorship and consequently the presidency of the Nekosko-Edwards company, he having taken this step on account of continued ill health.

Mr. Nash was one of the organizers of the Nekosko-Edwards company in 1892 and has held the office of president since that time until the organization of the Nekosko-Edwards company, when he was made president of that company. During the past two years Mr. Nash has been in rather poor health, and as a consequence the cares of business have been rather irksome to him.

One of the principal matters discussed at the meeting of County Superintendents held at LaCrosse last week was how to induce local school teachers to give their correct age. Just what difference it could possibly make whether a teacher gave her correct age or not is somewhat of a conundrum to the man not actually in the business. One can hire a stenographer without even asking her age, employ a housekeeper without an affidavit concerning the number of years she has spent on this earth, and so with the many positions that girls and women generally fill. Just why a schoolman should be called on to supply the exact data in this respect is more than we can imagine. Most men with as much intelligence as the average school superintendent is supposed to possess can tell about how old a girl is anyway, so that this ought not to bother a great deal.

Foley's Kidney Remedy may be given to children with admirable results. It does away with bed wetting, and is so recommended for use after measles and scarlet fever. Johnson & Hill Co. and J. E. Daly.

What Everybody Ought to Know. That Foley Kidney Pills contain just the ingredients necessary to tone, strengthen and purify the action of the kidneys and bladder. Johnson & Hill Co. and J. E. Daly.

The problem of running a county fair successfully is growing constantly harder and each year the number is growing smaller. The latest to drop out is the LaCrosse county fair.

After confabulating fairly for fifty-two consecutive years at West Salem, the LaCrosse County Agricultural and Horticultural society has disbanded and the property, comprising twenty-three acres of ground and numerous buildings, has been sold to Cullman brothers of West Salem for $5,100.

New Fountain Installed.

Joe, Wheeler received the remaining parts of his new soda fountain last week and it has been placed in position and has been in use for several days past. The affair is one of the latest things of the kind, and besides being very handy for the purpose intended is a very handsome piece of work, and would prove an ornament to any place.

Seven Cities Declare War.

Seven Wisconsin cities have simultaneously begun their battle against consumption, flunk their skirmish lines and are now getting definite facts upon the strength of the enemy.

Oshkosh, Stevens Point, Wausau, Black River Falls, Eau Claire, Menomonie and LaCrosse have taken the field. Enthusiasm runs high in each city and the local committees have accepted the proposal of the state anti-tuberculosis association to give its utmost assistance in beginning local surveys and intensive campaigns directed against the extermination of tuberculosis.

The findings of the Milwaukee investigation, now almost completed, have aroused interest on the part of the fighting organizations which have accepted the proposal of the state anti-tuberculosis association to give its utmost assistance in beginning local surveys and intensive campaigns directed against the extermination of tuberculosis.

The seven cities which have determined to declare war have just been visited by Miss Goddard, the trained field worker of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association. Miss Goddard took a prominent part in the survey at Milwaukee, which city claimed first attention because it presents the largest and most difficult problems. The seven cities were chosen because of a spontaneous desire to better local conditions, which led them to make demands upon the association, and secondly for reasons of expediency.

One of the tangible results already recorded is an increased registration of existing cases. The association is hearing down hard upon the registration problem as being a removable factor in the spreading of the disease to innocent and unprepared victims. The physicians of Wausau have already endorsed the registration law and are determined that it shall be observed and enforced.

CARP GOOD TO EAT

SAYS GOV. DAVIDSON

Madison, Wis., May 23.—Gov. Davidson today contributed to a discussion regarding the parking of the lakes of carp which were imported some years ago by the national government and which have been a source of great annoyance to fishermen.

Recently the local afternoon papers started a controversy declaring that carp were edible, as edible as any other fish when prepared properly and quoted several authorities.

Gov. Davidson today declared that he had eaten carp on several occasions and not only lives to tell the tale but says they are just as good to eat as any other fish when properly prepared.

The governor also denounced the practice of permitting outside contractors to seize the lakes of carp and ship them east, selling them at a huge profit. He declared the practice was detrimental to the game fish even though the latter are thrown back into the lakes.

In this connection one of our citizens hands us a recipe for cooking carp, which may be tried by anybody who likes fish. The formula is as follows:

Clean the fish nicely, let it dry for two days in the sun, nail the fish to a pine board, coat with salt and after standing for two days longer, put it in a pan and bake slowly for six hours. Then draw the nails out, throw the carp away and eat the nails and the board.

Mr. Nash was one of the organizers of the Nekooza Paper company in 1892 and has held the office of president since that time until the organization of the Nekooza-Edwards company, when he was made president of that company. During the past two years Mr. Nash has been in rather poor health, and as a consequence the cares of business have been rather irksome to him.

One of the principal matters discussed at the meeting of County Superintendents held at LaCrosse last week was how to induce lady school teachers to give their correct age. Just what difference it could possibly make whether a teacher gave her correct age or not is somewhat of a conundrum to the man not actually in the business. One can hire a stenographer without even asking her age, employ a housekeeper without an affidavit concerning the number of years she has spent on this earth, and so with the many positions that girls and women generally fill. Just why a schoolman should be called on to supply the exact data in this respect is more than we can imagine. Most men with as much intelligence as the average school superintendent is supposed to possess can tell about how old a girl is anyway, so that this ought not to be a great deal.

OLD CRIST MILLS.

The establishment of a grist mill was a very important matter to the early settlers of America. It was of little use to grow grain unless it could be ground and made suitable for food, and a settlement without a grist mill was at a serious disadvantage. The more especially because the roads, where any wheat, were not of the best. Not many of the oldest of the grist mills remain. Here in New England, as elsewhere, they were placed in the beginning upon small streams which could be dammed without resort to the engineering methods of today, says Manche for Union. As a consequence most of them were abandoned as population increased and the resources of the community made it possible to erect mills on larger and more reliable streams. Then, too, in these later years the old fashioned country grist mill has disappeared almost altogether. Last Saturday one of the historic landmarks of New Jersey, the old grist mill at Mount Holly, was destroyed by fire. It dated from 1728 and its loss is, of course, irreparable. It appears, however, that New England could claim precedence of New Jersey, even before the Mount Holly grist mill was burned. The Providence Journal says that there is one at New London, Conn., which was built as early as 1650, and is of especial historic interest because it was the property of Gov. John Winthrop, Jr.

A Chicago chemist is said to have discovered a preparation made from skimmed milk which has a wide variety of uses. It will preserve foods. It will maintain dead bodies. It will treat with it become imperishable. Applied to patent leather shoes, it "prevents the patent expiring," not a crack ever appearing on the smooth surface. The most porous brown paper becomes water tight under its action. It supplies an indelible writing fluid impervious to acids. Evaporated and compressed, it becomes an artificial ivory. As a glue, it is without an equal. The inventor, it is understood, discloses that his preparation will grow hair on a bald head. It is to be considered, however, that his method of preparation from skimmed milk. Suppose he should try what could be done with rich Jersey cream?

The long hat pin cadence is not directed against a style of dress, but against a public nuisance. It has been shown that painful wounds and even loss of sight have resulted from the maintenance of this nuisance. The style might be harmless if each of its devotees could be assigned to a ten-acre lot and duly surrounded by a barbed wire fence, but when they throng the streets and street cars of a great city it is dangerous, says Chicago Record Herald. It is to be hoped that women will have the good sense to realize that the cadence, with its $50 fine, is not a piece of freak legislation; that there were excellent reasons why an effort should have been made to abolish the nuisance, and that it is their duty to put the long hat pin out of business.

When Lord Campbell published his "Lives of the Lord Chancellors" it was wittily exclaimed that he had "added a new terror to death." The chancery law, it seems, has added a new terror to life. At Newton, Mass., the other day two young people had a narrow escape from drowning on account of the capsize of their canoe. The telephone account says: "The upset was caused by a gust of wind striking the new chancery hat which adorned Miss Larkin's head. The wide rim acted like a sail." It was the wide rim of the hat that did it—not the ornamental bird. Miss Larkin's peril would have been equally great if instead of a rooster she had worn a duck.

VICTORIA'S FUNERAL PROCESSION.

FUNERAL RITES OF KING EDWARD VII.

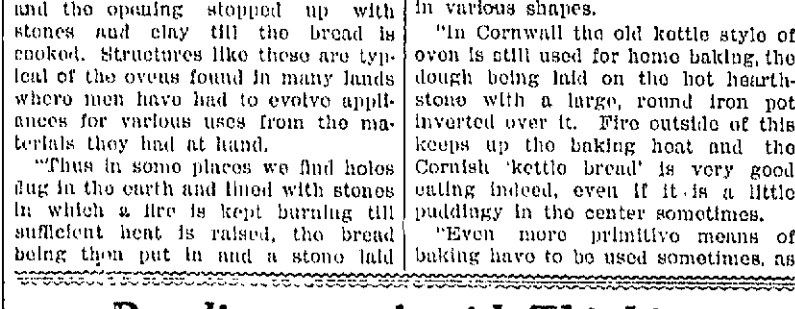

London, Eng.—The funeral of King Edward is declared to have been the most imposing ceremonial Great Britain's capital ever witnessed. Thirty thousand soldiers were brought from all the army and other military camps to line the streets when the procession passed. As there was no room to harness them over night the soldiers bivouacked in the parks and streets. The city had the appearance of an invaded town for two days. Some of the soldiers slept in tents in the parks, while the remainder lay down beside their guns in the streets. At a conservative estimate 700,000 persons passed through Westminster hall to look upon the coffin of the king lying in state. Barrels were built, by means of which the people were ushered through in four lines at the rate of 18,000 an hour. The body of the late king was not exposed to view.

Queen Mother Chose Hymns. The hymns sung at the service at Windsor were all of the queen mother's choice. They were "My God, My Father, While I Stray," "Now the Laborer's Task is O'er," and "I Heard a Voice From Heaven." Scotland yard had all its detectives on duty, and these were reinforced by a hundred more from continental cities. All visitors were watched, but there was little real fear of anarchistic attempts, because it was known that every one under surveillance would be deported from England if any trouble were caused on this occasion, and it was not likely that the persons of the monarch type would give up voluntarily their safest refuge in Europe.

The procession to Westminster hall May 17 for the lying in state was almost on as great a scale as the funeral procession. The cortege included King George and all the foreign sovereigns on horseback, and the queen mother and the royal ladies in carriages. When the funeral procession started every street car in London came to a standstill for a quarter of an hour. All the public houses in London were closed while the procession was passing.

No Distinction Shown. There was no distinction as to person nor were there any ticket privileges for the lying in state in Westminster hall. All had to take their turn in line. At St. George's chapel, at Windsor, from whence the body was carried to its final resting place the carved stalls were removed in order to give place to timber seating. Otherwise not a tenth of those entitled to attend would have been able to enter. The chapel was draped with violet hangings. The service held in Westminster abbey did not form any part of the royal funeral. It was a memorial service held especially for those members of the house of lords and house of commons, who were unable to go to Windsor. Electric standards were fixed around the place in Westminster hall where the catafalque stood. The public was admitted until ten o'clock at night. The catafalque occupied the spot on which Gladstone's catafalque stood. The court removed to Windsor the day before the funeral. The archbishop of Canterbury, assisted by Canon Wilberforce, conducted a short service at Westminster hall on the arrival of the body on May 17. The members of both houses of parliament attended this service.

Neither M. Loubet, M. Delcasse nor M. Clemenceau formed part of the funeral mission to attend the funeral of King Edward. Premier Ireland intended to go, but also gave up the idea, owing to the fact that Emperor William was there. Under these circumstances the mission was purely formal. It consisted of M. Pichon, minister of foreign affairs; General Dakieln, military governor of Paris; Admiral Marquis and an attaché representing President Fallieres. Roosevelt Among the Monarchs. Ex-President Roosevelt, who was named as special envoy of the United States to attend the funeral of King Edward, was presented to King George soon after his arrival in London. MANY WAYS OF BAKING BREAD

From Sticking It on a Hot Jar to Turning a Kettle Over It Are the Variations.

"In visiting Greece I was struck with the primitive ovens built behind most of the houses in small towns," says a correspondent of the Bakers' Weekly. "These were like large beehives, built of clay; they were evidently sold up to the sole, then had the arched roof over, with a door at one side. "They are heated with fires of straw and twigs and when ready for use are swept out, the dough put in and the opening stopped up with stones and clay till the bread is cooked. Structures like these are typical of the ovens found in many lands where men have had to evolve appliances for various uses from the materials they had at hand. "Thus in some places we find holes dug in the earth and lined with stones in which a fire is kept burning till sufficient heat is raised, the bread being then put in and a stone laid over the opening, with a fire on it to keep the cooking heat.

"In these ovens, we are told, the South Sea Islanders bake their breadfruit and yams and roast their pork, and doubtless they answer their purposes very well. In some eastern countries fire is put into a large earthen jar with small mouth and sloping sides, the cakes of bread being stuck on the outside of the jar to bake. "Then we know the old fashioned glaze, so much used in old Scotch farm houses, on which scones, bannocks and oatcakes are fired. This is also employed in Scandinavia for baking the universal 'flad bread' and it is also in use in many other countries in various shapes. "In Cornwall the old kettle style of oven is still used for home baking, the dough being laid on the hot hearthstone with a large, round iron pot inverted over it. Fire outside of this keeps up the baking heat and the Cornish 'kettle bread' is very good eating indeed, even if it is a little puffy in the center sometimes. "Even more primitive means of baking have to be used sometimes, as

SEVEN BOILERS IN CANTON (O.) SHEET MILL BLOW UP.

SCORE, AT LEAST, INJURED

Employees of American Tin Plate Company Are Blown to Fragments and Plant Totally Wrecked by Terrible Blast—Few Escape Unhurt.

Canton, O.—In a better explosion at the plant of the American Sheet & Tin Plate company's plant at least seventeen men were killed and a score injured. Night Superintendent Houston said that he had personal knowledge of there being 17 dead. George Brehm, one of the rescuers, said that he helped carry out 15 dead bodies and believes that many more are buried in the debris.

Over 100 men were in the mill at the time of the explosion and it is not believed that more than a dozen escaped injury. A large number of these are fatally injured. Seven boilers, of 1,200 horse power each, exploded simultaneously in an L-shaped addition near the middle of the main mill. All employees connected with that department were blown to atoms, it is believed.

One body was thrown by the force of the explosion through the side of a home square and a half away from the wrecked plant. The body passed through the house and came out on the other side. It landed on a fence across the street and knocked it down. Another body was picked up a half mile away from the scene of the explosion. A human hand crashed through the window of the office 75 feet away. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

Women and children whose husbands and fathers are supposed to be among the dead or injured, gathered about the wrecked plant, weeping and wringing their hands.

Windows are broken in all houses within a radius of a quarter of a mile. The whole section in the vicinity of the plant is strewn with debris from the mill.

The mill is practically a wreck, the interior being blown to pieces. The shell of one boiler was blown a distance of 600 feet north of the plant. P. V. McLean, constructing engineer for the Canton Sheet Steel company, just a short distance away, was among the first on the scene. "I personally saw 11 dead workmen," said Mr. McLean. "I helped to dig out the bodies and succeeded in finding two, one of an American and the other of a foreigner."

Invaders.—Two almost simultaneous explosions of dynamite, supposed to contain 3,000 pounds, completely demolished the rural guard barracks in the city of Pinar del Rio. Fully a hundred persons were killed and nearly as many were wounded.

Most of the dead were rural guards, but the entire families of several of the officers of the guard, it is reported, were killed also, as well as several employees of the public works department and residents of the city.

It is not known yet whether the explosion was the result of an accident or was due to an act of conspirators, but the former hypothesis is considered the more probable.

LIFE SENTENCE FOR HYDE

Kansas City, Mo.—After deliberating for three nights and two days the jury which tried Dr. B. Clark Hyde on the charge of poisoning his wife's uncle, Col. Thomas H. Swope, the Kansas City multimillionaire, returned a verdict Monday finding the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree and sentencing him to prison for life.

The physician will be sentenced in open court by Justice Latschaw Thursday of Friday. The law allows the defense four days to file a motion for a new trial.

"Treat that prisoner the same as any other," Judge Latschaw said to County Marshal Joe D. Mayes. "Give him few privileges and no luxuries." The custom of permitting prisoners to send out for their meals will apply in Dr. Hyde's case, but he must sleep in a cell.

"I will file a motion for a new trial and then take an appeal in the case," said Frank P. Walsh, chief counsel for Doctor Hyde.

The verdict came unexpectedly. Every attorney in the case had given up hope that the jury, which had given out since Friday night, would come to an agreement.

When the announcement came that the verdict was ready the news spread rapidly and every inch of space in the courtroom soon was occupied. Little time was wasted in reading the verdict. The crowd heard it and at the marshal's orders arose and left the room without confusion. Judge Latschaw thanked each of the jurors and they hurried home.

BALLINGER DISCHARGES KERBY

STENOGRAPHER WHO TOLD SECRETS LOSES HIS POSITION.

Charged That Taft Letter Exonerating Secretary of Interior Was Written by Lawler.

Washington—Frederick M. Kerby, the stenographer in the office of the secretary of the interior, who issued a statement regarding the Lawler memorandum on the Glavis charges to the president, was discharged Monday from the government service by Secretary Ballinger.

Secretary of the interior Ballinger said that his action in discharging Kerby and declaring him to be "unworthy" was the only course left open to him.

In a letter to Senator Nelson Sunday a President Taft assumed all responsibility for Ballinger's action, saying he directed Lawler to prepare an opinion as to whether the president, but did not think it wise to adopt the criticism contained therein of Mr. Glavis and Mr. Pinchot.

It was further pointed out, both at the White House and by Attorney General Wickersham himself, that a comparison of the Lawler draft and the president's letter would show that the influence of the Kerby statement was unwarranted.

When the inquiry was resumed Tuesday, Kerby was called to the stand soon after the hearing began. Kerby said that he was friendly to Mr. Glavis and that he had exchanged one or two letters with the latter since he left the government service. He said neither of these letters related to the matter which he has since made public, but that subsequently he had a conversation with Mr. Glavis at which he had told him about it.

Kerby said he met Mr. Glavis at the home of Clifford Pinchot between February 10 and 15, and had told him about the preparation of the Lawler memorandum. He said that Mr. Glavis also was present, and that he related the matter to him in detail.

PRISON TERM FOR GRAFTERS

Six Men Receive Sentence at Pittsburg on Charge of Bribery and Conspiracy.

Pittsburg, Pa.—Ten prominent men of affairs of Pittsburg, including bankers, physicians and former leading politicians, faced Judge Robert S. Frazer in the criminal court to receive their sentences on various charges of bribery and conspiracy in connection with coalmining corruption recently exposed.

Of the ten men who appeared in court all except one have already pleaded no defense to indictments alleging the giving and receiving of bribes money.

Sentences were imposed as follows: A. A. Vinack, former cashier Germania National bank; eight months in the county jail and a fine of $5,000. Charles Stewart, former select councilman; eight months in the county jail and a fine of $500.

Hugh Ferguson, former common councilman; eight months in the county jail and a fine of $500. Dr. W. H. Weber, former select councilman; six months in the county jail and a fine of $500.

P. B. Kourne, former select councilman; four months in the county jail and a fine of $250. Morris Eklund, former select councilman; six months in the county jail and a fine of $2,500.

150 NARROWLY ESCAPE DEATH

Excursion Steamer Sinks—Passengers Are Saved Through Heroism of Engineer and Pilot.

Kannas City, Mo.—The excursion steamer Uncle Sam collided with a sand barge in the Missouri river, at the foot of Grand avenue, and sank. One hundred and fifty passengers, 25 of them women, had narrow escapes from death.

Their lives were saved by the heroism of Roy Taylor, the engineer, and W. L. Thompson, pilot of the boat. When the sand barge punched a hole in the stern of the boat and she began to sink, the engineer put on full speed ahead and the pilot headed her for the shore, while the passengers, panic-stricken, ran screaming from one side of the deck to the other.

Within ten feet of the shore the boat sank to the bottom and tipped over until her decks were at an angle of 45 degrees. All the lower decks was under water.

People ran to the river bank from all directions; planks were carried and thrown out to the boat forming a bridge to get long, and over this the passengers were ashore.

Had the boat sunk one minute sooner she would have gone down in the deep channel of the river and many lives would have been lost.

EXPLOSION KILLS 17

SEVEN BOILERS IN CANTON (O.) SHEET MILL BLOW UP.

SCORE, AT LEAST, INJURED

Employees of American Tin Plate Company Are Blown to Fragments and Plant Totally Wrecked by Terrible Blast—Few Escape Unhurt.

Canton, O.—In a better explosion at the plant of the American Sheet & Tin Plate company's plant at least seventeen men were killed and a score injured. Night Superintendent Houston said that he had personal knowledge of there being 17 dead. George Brehm, one of the rescuers, said that he helped carry out 15 dead bodies and believes that many more are buried in the debris.

Over 100 men were in the mill at the time of the explosion and it is not believed that more than a dozen escaped injury. A large number of these are fatally injured. Seven boilers, of 1,200 horse power each, exploded simultaneously in an L-shaped addition near the middle of the main mill. All employees connected with that department were blown to atoms, it is believed.

One body was thrown by the force of the explosion through the side of a home square and a half away from the wrecked plant. The body passed through the house and came out on the other side. It landed on a fence across the street and knocked it down. Another body was picked up a half mile away from the scene of the explosion. A human hand crashed through the window of the office 75 feet away. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

Women and children whose husbands and fathers are supposed to be among the dead or injured, gathered about the wrecked plant, weeping and wringing their hands.

Windows are broken in all houses within a radius of a quarter of a mile. The whole section in the vicinity of the plant is strewn with debris from the mill.

The mill is practically a wreck, the interior being blown to pieces. The shell of one boiler was blown a distance of 600 feet north of the plant. P. V. McLean, constructing engineer for the Canton Sheet Steel company, just a short distance away, was among the first on the scene. "I personally saw 11 dead workmen," said Mr. McLean. "I helped to dig out the bodies and succeeded in finding two, one of an American and the other of a foreigner."

Invaders.—Two almost simultaneous explosions of dynamite, supposed to contain 3,000 pounds, completely demolished the rural guard barracks in the city of Pinar del Rio. Fully a hundred persons were killed and nearly as many were wounded.

Most of the dead were rural guards, but the entire families of several of the officers of the guard, it is reported, were killed also, as well as several employees of the public works department and residents of the city.

It is not known yet whether the explosion was the result of an accident or was due to an act of conspirators, but the former hypothesis is considered the more probable.

LIFE SENTENCE FOR HYDE

Kansas City, Mo.—After deliberating for three nights and two days the jury which tried Dr. B. Clark Hyde on the charge of poisoning his wife's uncle, Col. Thomas H. Swope, the Kansas City multimillionaire, returned a verdict Monday finding the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree and sentencing him to prison for life.

The physician will be sentenced in open court by Justice Latschaw Thursday of Friday. The law allows the defense four days to file a motion for a new trial.

"Treat that prisoner the same as any other," Judge Latschaw said to County Marshal Joe D. Mayes. "Give him few privileges and no luxuries." The custom of permitting prisoners to send out for their meals will apply in Dr. Hyde's case, but he must sleep in a cell.

"I will file a motion for a new trial and then take an appeal in the case," said Frank P. Walsh, chief counsel for Doctor Hyde.

The verdict came unexpectedly. Every attorney in the case had given up hope that the jury, which had given out since Friday night, would come to an agreement.

When the announcement came that the verdict was ready the news spread rapidly and every inch of space in the courtroom soon was occupied. Little time was wasted in reading the verdict. The crowd heard it and at the marshal's orders arose and left the room without confusion. Judge Latschaw thanked each of the jurors and they hurried home.

A Storekeeper Says:

"A lady came into my store lately and said: 'I have been using a New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove all winter in my apartment. I want one now for my summer home. I think these oil stoves are wonderful. If only women knew what a comfort they are, they would all have one. I spoke about my stove to a lot of my friends, and they were astonished. They thought that there was something wrong with it, and that it heated a room just like any other stove. I told them of my experience, and one after another they got one, and now, not one of them would give me up for five times its cost.'"

The lady who said this had thought an oil stove was all right for quickly heating milk for a baby, or boiling a little of water, or to make coffee quickly in the morning, but she never dreamed of using it for difficult or heavy cooking. Now she knows.

Do you really appreciate what a New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove means to you? No more cold and empty rooms coming to the dinner table as tired out that you can't eat. ### OLD CRIST MILLS.

The establishment of a grist mill was a very important matter to the early settlers of America. It was of little use to grow grain unless it could be ground and made suitable for food, and a settlement without a grist mill was at a serious disadvantage, the more especially because the roads, where any existed, were not of the best. Not many of the oldest of the grist mills remain. Here in New England, as elsewhere, they were placed in the beginning upon small streams which could be dammed without resort to the engineering methods of today, says Manchester Union. As a consequence most of them were abandoned as population increased and the resources of the communities made it possible to erect mills on larger and more reliable streams. Then, too, in these later years the old-fashioned country grist mill has disappeared almost altogether. Last Saturday one of the historic landmarks of New Jersey, the old grist mill at Mount Holly, was destroyed by fire. It dated from 1728 and its loss is, of course, irreparable. It appears, however, that New England could claim precedence at New Jersey, even before the Mount Holly grist mill was burned. The Providence Journal says that there is one at New London, Conn., which was built as early as 1650, and is of especial historic interest because it was the property of Gov. John Winthrop, Jr.

A Chicago chemist is said to have discovered a preparation made from skimmed milk which has a wide variety of uses. It will preserve foods. It will mummify dead bodies. Railroad ties treated with it become imperishable. Applied to patent leather shoes, it prevents the patent expiring, not a crack ever appearing on the smooth surface. The most porous brown paper becomes water tight under its action. It supplies an indelible writing fluid impervious to acids. Evaporated and compressed, it becomes an artificial ivory. As a glue, it is without an equal. The inventor, it is understood, disclaims that his preparation will grow hair on a bald head. It is to be considered, however, that he makes the preparation from skimmed milk. Suppose he should try what could be done with rich Jersey cream!

The long hat pin ordinance is not directed against a style of dress, but against a public nuisance. It has been shown that painful wounds and even loss of sight have resulted from the maintenance of this nuisance. The style might be harmless if each of its devotees could be considered to a toner lot and duly surrounded by a barbed-wire fence, but when they throng the streets and street corners of a great city it is dangerous, says Chicago Record-Herald. It is to be hoped that women will have the good sense to realize that the ordinance, with its $50 fine, is not a piece of Frank legislation; that there were excellent reasons why an effort should have been made to abolish the nuisance, and that it is their duty to put the long hat pin out of business.

When Lord Campbell published his "Lives of the Lord Chancellors" it was widely exclaimed that he had "added a new error to death." The chancellor hat, it seems, has added a new terror to life. At Newton, Mass., the other day two young people had a narrow escape from drowning on account of the capsize of their canoe. The telegraphed account says: "The upset was caused by a gust of wind striking the new chancellor hat which adorned Miss Larkins' head. The wide rim acted like a sail." It was the wide rim of the hat that did it—not the ornamental bird. Miss Larkins' peril would have been equally great if instead of a rooster she had worn a duck.

VICTORIA'S FUNERAL PROCESSION.

From wiregraph, copyright, by Underwood & Underwood, N. Y.

FUNERAL RITES OF KING EDWARD VII.

London, Eng.—The funeral of King Edward is declared to have been the most imposing ceremonial Great Britain's capital ever witnessed. Thirty thousand soldiers were brought from Aldershot and other military camps to line the streets when the procession passed.

As there was no room to bar back them over night, the soldiers bivouacked in the parks and streets. The city had the appearance of an invaded town for two days. Some of the soldiers slept in tents in the parks, while the remainder lay down beside their guns in the streets.

At a conservative estimate 700,000 persons passed through Westminster hall to look upon the coffin of the king lying in state in the great hall. The streets were thronged in four lines at the rate of 18,000 an hour. The body of the late king was not exposed to view.

Queen Mother Goss Home. The hymns sung at the service at Windsor were all of the queen mother's choice. They were "My God, My Father, While I Stray," "Now the Laureate's Task is Ours," and "I Heard a Voice From Heaven."

Scotland yard had all its detectives on duty, and these were reinforced by a hundred more from continental cities. All visitors were watched, but there was little real fear of anarchistic attempts, because it was known that every one under surveillance would be deported from England if any trouble were caused on this occasion, and it was not likely that the persons of the anarchist type would give up voluntarily their safest refuge in Europe.

The procession to Westminster hall May 17 for the lying in state was almost as great a scene as the funeral procession. The cortege included King George and all the foreign sovereigns on horseback, and the queen mother and the royal ladies in carriages.

When the funeral procession started every street car in London came to a standstill for a quarter of an hour. All the public houses in London were closed while the procession was passing.

No Distinction Shown. There was no distinction as to persons nor were there any ticket privileges for the lying in state in Westminster hall. All had to take their turn in line.

At St. George's chapel, at Windsor, from whence the body was carried to its final resting place the carved stalls were removed in order to give place to timber seating. Otherwise not a tenth of the people could attend would have been able to enter the chapel was draped with violet hangings.

The service held in Westminster abbey did not form any part of the royal funeral. It was a memorial service held especially for those members of the house of lords and house of commons, who were unable to go to Windsor.

Electric standards were fixed around the place in Westminster hall where the catafalque stood. The public was admitted until ten o'clock at night. The catafalque occupied the spot on which Gladstone's catafalque stood.

The court removed to Windsor the day before the funeral. The archbishop of Canterbury, assisted by Canon Wilberforce, conducted a short service at Westminster hall on the arrival of the body on May 17. The members of both houses of parliament attended this service.

Neither M. Loubet, M. Delcasse nor M. Clemenceau formed part of the French mission to attend the funeral of King Edward. Premier Briand intended to go, but also gave up the idea, owing to the fact that Emperor William was there. Under these circumstances the mission was purely formal. It consisted of M. Pichon, minister of foreign affairs; General Dalstein, military governor of Paris; Admiral Marquis and an attaché representing President Fallieres.

Roosevelt Among the Monarchs. Ex-President Roosevelt, who was named as special envoy of the United States to attend the funeral of King Edward, was presented to King George soon after his arrival in London. Mr. Roosevelt occupied a place with the visiting monarchs in the funeral procession and attended the burial at Windsor.

Jackies Drew Carriage. King George being so closely identified with the navy, the naval contingents took a prominent part in the ceremonies. Bluejackets drew the gun carriage to Windsor, as they did the carriage which bore the body of Victoria, although on that occasion they did so because the horses became restive.

Soldiers from the king's company, grenadier guards, kept sentry watch over the body in the throneroom at Buckingham palace. They were relieved each hour. With simple ceremony some one of the visiting royal families entered the room every now and then, and the widowed queen went there frequently.

Body in Magnificent Tomb. The body of King Edward lies with that of his immediate ancestors in the magnificent mausoleum at Frogmore, in the Home park of Windsor castle. In this structure, erected by Queen Victoria at a cost of $1,000,000, Prince Albert Edward, father of the late king, was laid to rest in 1861. In the same year Queen Victoria's mother, the duchess of Kent, was buried in an elaborate tomb in the grounds near by. In 1901 Queen Victoria herself was buried in the mausoleum beside her husband.

Queen Mother's Grief Deep. The successive delays in the removal of King Edward's body from the bedroom where he died to the throneroom at Buckingham palace were due to Queen Alexandra's reluctance to allow the body to be removed from the proximity of her own apartments.

All arrangements had been made for the reception of the body in the throneroom and notices were issued to members of the household that they would be permitted to view the body lying in state there, but day by day the removal was postponed and the invitations deferred.

The queen's private apartments communicate directly with those of the late king, and it is not known how often she visited the room in which her dead husband lay or the duration of the vigils she made there, but it is said her sister, the dowager empress of Russia, who her grief might prove too great a strain.

BALLINGER DISCHARGES KERBY

STENOGRAPHER WHO TOLD SECRETS LOSES HIS POSITION.

Charged That Taft Letter Exonerating Secretary of Interior Was Written by Lawler.

Washington.—Frederick M. Kerby, the stenographer in the office of the secretary of the interior, who issued a statement regarding the Lawler memorandum on the Glavis charges to the president, was discharged Monday from the government service by Secretary Ballinger.

Secretary of the Interior Ballinger said that his action in discharging Kerby and declaring him to be "unworthy" was the only course left open to him.

In a letter to Senator Nelson Sunday President Taft assumes all responsibility for Ballinger's action, saying he directed Lawler "to prepare an opinion as to whether the president," but did not think it wise to adopt the criticism contained therein of Mr. Glavis and Mr. Pinchot.

It was further pointed out, both at the White House and by Attorney General Wickham himself, that a comparison of the Lawler draft and the president's letter would show that the inferences of the Kerby statement were unwarranted.

When the inquiry was resumed Tuesday, Kerby was called to the stand soon after the hearing began. Kerby said he met Mr. Garfield at the home of Clifford Pinchot between February 10 and 15, and had told him about the preparation of the Lawler memorandum. He said that Mr. Brandeis also was present, and that he related the matter to him in detail.

Excursion Steamer Sinks—Passengers Are Saved Through Heroism of Engineer and Pilot.

Kansas City, Mo.—The excursion steamer Uncle Sam collided with a sand barge in the Missouri river, at the foot of Grand avenue, and sank. One hundred and fifty passengers, 25 of them women, had narrow escapes from death.

Their lives were saved by the heroism of Roy Taylor, the engineer, and W. L. Thompson, pilot of the boat. When the sand barge punched a hole in the stern of the boat and she began to sink, the engineer put on full speed ahead and the pilot headed her for the shore, while the passengers, panic-stricken, ran screaming from one side of the deck to the other.

Within ten feet of the shore the boat sank to the bottom and tipped over until her decks were at an angle of 45 degrees. All the lower deck was under water.

People ran to the river bank from all directions; planks were carried and thrown out to the boat forming a bridge ten feet long over this the passengers went ashore.

Had the boat sunk one minute sooner she would have gone down in the deep channel of the river and many lives would have been lost.

They thought that there was no more to it than a common stove, and that it heated a room just like any other stove. I told them of my experience, and one after another they got one, and now, not one of them would give me up for five times its cost.'"

The lady who said this had thought an oil stove was all right for quickly heating milk for a baby, or boiling a kettle of water, or to make coffee quickly in the morning, but she never dreamed of using it for difficult or heavy cooking. Now—she knows.

Do you realize what a New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove means to you? No more coal to carry, no more coming to the dinner table so tired out that you can't eat, just light a New Perfection Stove and immediately the heat from an intense blue flame shoots up to the bottom of pot, kettle or oven. That the room isn't heated. There is no smoke, no smell, no outside heat, no drudgery in the kitchen where one of these stoves is used.

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove

It has a Cabinet Top with a shelf for keeping plates and food hot. The nickel finish with the bright blue of the chimneys makes the stove elegant and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

Loomis' Face Again. Hank Johnson had long enjoyed the distinction of being the homeliest man in Canyonville, so it was somewhat of a shock to him when Steve Loomis came into the Town's Retreat and announced: "Boys, there's a homelier man than Hank over at the depot. Poller by the name of Charles Daniel Loomis that gives lectures."

Without a word Hank started across the road and was gone some time.

"Wal, Steve said when Hank returned, 'dye give up?'"

One Type of Religion.

"Too many people," said Rev. Charles P. Aked at a sermon in New York, "regard their religion as did the little boy in the jam closet."

"His mother pounced on him suddenly. He stood on tiptoe, holding jam with both hands from the jam pot to his mouth."

"And last night you prayed to be made a saint!"

"His face, an expressionless mask of jam, turned towards her."

"Yes, but not till after I'm dead," he explained.

Friendship May Be But a Memory.

For many years Friendship, the county seat of Adams county, has been a dream of a railroad, and that dream is about to be realized in now time. The site of the road building up a line from town only a mile and a half distant which may result in wiping from the map the village of Friendship, as did the building of Tonahill road in making the once prosperous village of Jacksonville nothing but a farming land.

The Baraboo News publishes the following relative to the prospective development in the vicinity of Friendship:

"It will be recalled that Mr. Marshall prepared an excellent paper on Newport which was read before the Bank County Historical society recently. Newport is no longer on the map and Mr. Marshall is fearful that Oxford and Friendship in Adams county will go the same way. When the surveyors for the new Chicago & Northwestern passed through those towns it is stated that the property owners suddenly became rich by the growing value of their holdings. In fact the prices went so high that it was beyond the purchasing power of the railroad company and the first thing those villages knew were not on the proposed line. Oxford is about two miles from where the road will be built and Friendship will be within hearing distance, the railroad station being about one and one-half miles away. Near Friendship the railroad company has purchased about 1,000 acres of land and proposes to have a division point there. It is said that the company is offering free lots to all who will erect business buildings and that a town will spring up at this point. This will be from 12 to 15 miles from Killebuck and already the railroad company at the Hill City is beginning to take notice. An electric line may go north from Killebuck and no doubt some of the trade will vanish from the power dam city. It will not be surprising if some of the buildings at Oxford and Friendship find themselves on rollers and going across the country by the time they come along. Some of those towns may share the fate of Newport when the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul decided to plant a town at Killebuck because the villagers at Newport thought that the road must go through their town and must purchase village lots at a bargain price."

LOCALS WIN TWO GAMES OF BASE BALL.

The Elm Chair town played two games with the local team on Sunday and Monday, and the locals won both games, the Sunday game being a shutout for the visitors while the locals made eleven scores.

On Monday the two teams scored more evenly matched, the score standing 10 to 11.

Our boys are doing a little better town where they have played a few games together, and the prospect is that we may have a pretty good team at the season advances.

We wonder how many of our boys realize that land is going fast—boys brought up to think that in America land can never be scarce, that when they have played out at everything else they can somewhere get a piece of land for nothing and the next day be a prosperous farmer, can with difficulty be made to see it. In 1895 there were but little over 81,000,000 acres under cultivation in the United States. Today the cultivated acres number 236,000,000 and these acres are not only our best, but they are fast going up in value beyond the reach of men of small means. Koon corporations snuffing the inevitable battle from afar are turning their attention to land, and greedily buying whole counties with no idea of ever letting an acre go, but the boy who thinks he is made for something higher looks calmly on thinking there will be plenty left for him should the one he wants to stoop to. The sons of Iowa, Kentucky, and Ohio are unsuccessful in their over-crowded callings, are turning to our cheaper lands, sure to find there what they nor their parents have known before—truly independent homes.—Ex.

Hazing. Hazing is an indefinite and inexplicable something. When we are called before the faculty we deny the existence of the word. We call it gentle horse-play.

Nevertheless hazing, whatever it is, fills its place in man's life. The wonderful state of soporific would be lost if not for it. What would be come of our great Military academy at West Point if it were not for hazing?

There are three great periods of hazing in man's life—first the green apple period, then the college period and finally the married period, which, we are told, is one continuous round of hazing on both sides.

Hazing is an educational and desirable experience for those wishing to become slaveholders, superintendents of gangs, divorce seekers and fathers of large families.

It is the greatest press agent of this age. Look at the free advertising different colleges receive every year.

Hazing is also very helpful to those wishing to test the strength of baseball clubs, fence pickets and bricks.—Rutgers Targum.

Millet and "The Angelus." It was only after long years of struggle and dire poverty, through which Millet was consoled and supported by his wife, that the peasant painter was able to take the three roomed cottage at Barbizon and "try to do something really good." It was then that he began to paint the most beautiful "poem of poverty," "The Angelus," which is today one of the most valuable pictures in the world. Agnès and again he threw aside the picture in despair of ever finishing it to his satisfaction, and as often his wife replaced it on the easel and induced him to continue.

On one occasion he was so incensed at not being able to produce a certain effect that he seized a knife and would have destroyed the canvas and ended the matter once for all had not his wife fortunately seized his hand and induced him to give the picture another trial. "Thus it was that at last 'The Angelus' found a place on the walls of the Louvre. The success it won encouraged Millet to paint many more pictures and thus place himself among the immortals in art.

Shot His Own Hens. Two neighbors kept hens and quarreled because they scratched each other's potato rows up. One sold his hens unknown to the other, who made a large run and fastened his hens up, saying:

"Now, the first hen I see in my garden I shall shoot."

Next day he saw a hen scratching as usual, so he got the gun and shot it and then threw it over his neighbor's fence, saying:

"Take your hen!"

"That your own old hen? We are tired of eating them and prefer a little pheasant. I sold my hens over a month since!"—Pearson's Weekly.

Ready For Market. Two Canadians were boasting. "Where I come from," said the first, "we have a salmon river that rises in some boiling springs. As the salmon climb up the river they gradually get acclimated to the heat of the water and don't mind it. In fact, when we fish in the highest reaches of the stream we catch our salmon ready boiled!"

"I don't doubt that," said the second Canadian calmly. "Down my way there's a curious salmon river too. It rises in some tin mines. As the fish work up they meet the suspended ore in gradually increasing quantities. They get quite mineralized if they keep on ascending, so that if we fish at the head of the river we catch our salmon ready tinned, and all we have to do is to pack and ship them to market!"

Egyptian Embalming. The modern embalmer is still ignorant of the secret that was so well known to the ancients of Egypt. The process followed by the Egyptian embalmers is known only in part, the main part being still a mystery. As to the cost of becoming a mummy, Herodotus and Diodorus tell of three modes of embalming prevalent in Egypt, the first very costly, amounting to about $2,000, the second about $800 and the third within the reach of all.—New York American.

On Lifting Cats and Rabbits. It is a mistake idea that the proper way to lift a cat or rabbit is by the back of its neck without supporting the lower part of its body with the other hand. It is true that the mother cat carries young kittens by grasping in her mouth the loose skin at the back of her offspring's neck, but a kitten lifted in a very abrupt manner from a large cat, and indeed, the only way to lift a kitten without squeezing or hurting its soft little body is to lift it by its neck. But after it has grown larger its own weight is too great to be supported by such a bit of skin and fur as is so grasped by the hand, and many a cat suffers perfect torments by being held in the manner and is quite helpless to run or struggle, as in such a position certain of its muscles cannot be controlled, and it is absolutely at the mercy of its unconscious tormentor.

The same rule should be observed in lifting rabbits by their ears. The proper way is to hold the rabbit by the lower part of its body with the other hand and the upper hand and not allowed to dangle with their whole weight straining from their large but necessarily delicate ears.—Watchword.

More Than One Way. The caller, a man whom he had known in the old town back in Pennsylvania, had dropped in to talk old times with the busy lawyer, and the lawyer had endured it patiently for an hour and a half. Then, unseen by the caller, he pushed a small knob at the end of his desk, and a bell rang in the adjoining room.

"Whereas me a moment, Mr. Hocken-splutter," he said, stepping into the other room and proceeding to hold this one sided conversation over an imaginary telephone:

"Hello!"

"Yes."

"No, Bortin, I'll not have time to come home for dinner. It's already 4:30, and I have several hours' work yet to do. I am very busy and have been detained."

"Yes. Goodbye!"

Then he went back to his desk. But Mr. Hocken-splutter had already risen to go.—Chicago Tribune.

That Genius Whistler. Of Whistler Lady St. Helier in "Memories of Fifty Years" writes thus: "He was a genius and had all the defects and qualities of one. To him everything was a joke, the subject of a bonnet. The lightest and daintiest of persiflage was what he excelled in, and one never had a dull moment in his company. He was always late for dinner, arranging the immortal lock of gray hair in its proper place as he came into the room, with apologies and excuses, and then, as if he were a perfectly conscious and also of the fact that his host and hostess knew that they were not. Whenever he was there would be a circle listening to him, and his ringing laugh would be heard all over the room as he sent his shafts right and left into the joints of the armor of those who were attacking him. It was a great surprise and almost a shock when he appeared as a benedict."

How Eskimos Measure Time. Writing of the Eskimo methods of measuring time in a region of six months day or night, Harry Whitney in "Outing" says:

"The Eskimo divides his periods into 'sleeps,' but a sleep does not designate by any means the civilized measure of day and night. It is, in fact, a very uncertain term. Often we traveled from twenty to thirty hours without rest. Now there was no night, and I so far lost count of time that I was not at all certain of dates. Our single marches with the succeeding 'sleep' not infrequently covered a full forty-eight hours, or two ordinary days. The object of these extended marches was to take advantage of good weather, for under any conditions or good, no safe or convenient camping place presented itself in the interior."

Two of a Kind. There is something about the character of mules that makes their owners at times almost equally stubborn. The Washington Star this dialogue concerning one if not two such animals is reported:

"Why don't you get rid of that mule?"

"Well, sub," answered Ernest Pinkney, "I hate to give in. If I was to trade that mule off he'd regard it as a personal victory. He's been trying to do las' six weeks to get rid of me."

An Injustice. When George III, first met Sir John Irwin, a thirty year old, he remarked, "You're young, my boy, but you're a former friend of a king of mine."

"Your majesty," gravely responded the courtier, "your informant do me a great injustice. They should have said a bottle."—St. Louis Republic.

He Remembered. Wife (reminiscent of her husband's death)—I remember, Agnes, so well when you proposed to me how painfully embarrassed you were. Agnes—Yes, dear, and I remember so well how kind and encouraging you were and how easy you made it for me, after all.—London Tit-Bits.

Experience. "Experience would be a wonderful asset but for one thing."

"What's that?"

"You can never sell it for what it cost you."

A small bug cannot be made to contain what is large. A short rope cannot be used to draw water from a deep well.—Chinese Proverb.

Granaries Rat and Thief Proof.

In some sections of the corn and wheat growing districts of Mexico the rodent pest is so bad that extraordinary precautions have to be taken to prevent the destruction of the crops by the little animals. Shock thriving in the natives must also be provided against. Corn and wheat bins of ordinary construction, such as are used in the United States, would not serve the purpose of protecting the grain. Instead of wooden structures the granaries are built of stone and brick. Most of them are of circular shape and vary in capacity from 500 to 5,000 bushels. The foundations of these granaries are sunk deep into the ground. At the top of the structure is a close fitting lid which covers the hole through which the grain is emptied into the granary. The ordinary method of filling the granaries is to have the grain carried to the top in sacks upon the backs of laborers up steep ladders. At the bottom of the granary is a door which leads into a narrow chamber, which is separated from the grain room by a solid wall of brick or stone, containing a slatted opening, through which the grain is emptied when required.—Kansas City Star.

Two Hundred Per Cent Loss.

He was no college bred business man. He was just the other kind. In the course of his commercial ventures he was induced by an acquaintance to become a partner in the grain and feed line. After about a year of it he found himself to pieces, leaving him with a large debt and, indeed, the only way to lift a kitten without squeezing or hurting its soft little body is to lift it by its neck. But after it has grown larger its own weight is too great to be supported by such a bit of skin and fur as is so grasped by the hand, and many a cat suffers perfect torments by being held in the manner and is quite helpless to run or struggle, as in such a position certain of its muscles cannot be controlled, and it is absolutely at the mercy of its unconscious tormentor.

"What per cent of the loss fell on you?" Inquired the friend, who didn't know the particulars.

"Two hundred," he responded promptly.

"Two hundred?" exclaimed the friend. "Why, man, there can't be more than a hundred per cent loss."

"Come off," he countered. "There was two of us. He lost a hundred and I lost a hundred. Don't that make 200?"

"Of course not. Your loss is only 100 per cent."

"Yes, but say," he explained, "I had to settle for it all."

"Oh," said the friend.—New York Press.

Masquerading in the Past.

In the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries Venice was a fashion in all matters of amusement and was a sort of combination of our Monte Carlo and Paris. Throughout the eighteenth century the Venetians were seized with a perfect mania for masquerading and gambling. Paris and London followed suit, and the two most popular amusements, both public and private, were masquerades and gambling saloons. People not only wore their masks or veils at balls, but in the mall and the parks and the theaters. At length matters got to such a pass that when a police raid was made on a certain low dancing place in the city, the order was given for every one to unmask what was the amazement of the police to find that at least a third of the company consisted of ladies and gentlemen of the highest aristocracy, some of whom had even brought their daughters.—London Saturday Review.

The Judges' Ride.

Customs change slowly with the lawyers, but the procession through the streets at the reopening of the law courts was not always the casual affair it now is. Until the middle of the sixteenth century the "judges' ride" to Westminster hall was quite an imposing spectacle, all the legal dignitaries being mounted on mules, like bishops and abbots on a pilgrimage. Mules presently gave place to horses, which in turn were abandoned for coaches. The last procession on horseback took place in the time of Charles II. and was then regarded as an interesting event. It was not greatly appreciated, however, by the judges themselves, who found their efforts to remain in the saddle far from conducive to a dignified appearance, and before the journey's end one of their number, Lord Twisdon, had the misfortune to be thrown in the mud.—Westminster Gazette.

A New Excuse.

One of the men in a large pottery took two or three days' holiday now and again, and when he came back, on being asked what was wrong, he said he had been away burying his grandmother.

He did this two or three times, and then he thought he had better change his excuse, so, on being asked the next time, he replied:

"Well, my brother, the sailor, is at home just now, and he's so used to the sound of the waves that I had to lash palladium of water over his head all night before he could sleep, and then I had to sleep during the day."—London Mail.

A Monumental Bull.

At Elkenny castle may be seen a "monumental" Irish bull in the form of a tombstone erected in the memory of a former retainer of the Ormonde family. The stone bears the truly biblical inscription, "Erected by John Toole in Memory of His Posterity."—Britannia Magazine.

Strenuous Church Worker.

Whitfield, one of the founders of Methodism, was said to be a very strenuous preacher. His usual program was 40 hours' solid speaking each week, and this to congregations measured in thousands, but he often spoke for six hours. This was not all. For "after his labors, instead of taking a rest, he was engaged in offering up prayers for the souls of the children singing hymns, as his manner was, in every house to which he was invited."

Beware of the Desert.

Butter Adulterated with Flint.

Butter that was sold to the English king was adulterated with ground flint. The flint stones were ground and manipulated into a substance called "soluble silica."

THE CHAMELEON.

This Curious Animal Is Like Two Half Creatures Joined.

The chameleon is not allied closely to any other animal. It stands as a genus by itself. The nervous centers in one lateral half operate independently of those in the other. This seems outrageous, and it is, but it is true. The chameleon has two lateral centers of perception—of sensation and of motion. There exists also a third center—that common one in which abides the lower of concentration by means of which the two sides of the creature may be forced to work in harmony with each other. But this center of concentration does not at ways dominate the situation. Notwithstanding the strictly symmetrical structure of the animal's two halves, the eyes move out independently, and they convey distinct and separate impressions to their respective centers of perception. As of the eyes, so of the other members—each reports to and is controlled by its own center.

The result is that when the faculty of concentration becomes disturbed everything is jumbled. Let the chameleon be much agitated and its movements grow erratic. They are those of two creatures fastened together, or rather, of two half creatures joined. Each half exhibits its intention of going its separate way. The result is a pliable confusion of movement. There is no concordance of action. A curious example of the chameleon's helplessness when unduly excited is found in the fact that it cannot swim. The shock of being plunged into water upsets the pulse of its faculty for concentration. Forthwith each side strikes out wildly for itself, to its own undoing. The chameleon is the only four legged vertebrate that cannot swim.

When the creature is calm every impulse to motion is referred to the common center of concentration, and the entire organism acts in fitting accord with the commands issued by that faculty. Thus, while totally different impressions from the two eyes are transmitted from the centers of the common one, that concentrating power decides as to which sense is the more important and then directs the eye otherwise engaged also to regard it. The same principle applies in the control of all the members—so long as the animal remains unexcited. Any obvious movement easily verifies the existence of this dual nature in a superficial way by some experiments with a sleeping chameleon. A touch on one side of the animal will wake that side up, while the other side sleeps calmly on.

FLINT AND TINDER.

Making Fire in the Days Before We Had Matches.

A friend of mine of just my age used to laugh about his own boyhood and tell the story of his mother shaking him in bed and bidding him put on his boots when he dressed and his overcoat and waded through the snow to the next neighbor's to get a pair of lighted sticks with which to make the fire. I suppose Joe's mother had lost her flint. We kept our flint and what was called "the steel" in a round tin box such as would hold a quart of strawberries now, and it was on the mantelpiece in the kitchen. It was half full of tinder. Half the boys and girls of today do not know what tinder is or was.

Now, whoever was in the kitchen in the morning and found that the last hot coal of the wood fire had gone out took down the tinder box and struck the steel with the flint smartly and, fast upon a red-hot spot, fell on the tinder; then very carefully she blew with her breath on any flakes of the tinder which had lighted until she had quite a little cove of lighted tinder. Then she took what we called a brimstone match and put that very carefully in the little, hot hole.

Then, by the light of the brimstone lighted and the wood of the match lighted, and she lighted the candle, which made a part of the tinder box.

Oh, dear! There were thousands of tinder boxes in little Boston the day I was born, and a few years ago I tried to buy one as a curiosity, and I found not one of them any more.

In those days old women would stop at the door and ask you to buy some bundles of matches. They had made these themselves of pine wood four inches long, which they had dipped in hot brimstone at both ends. And those were the only matches that anybody ever heard of.—Woman's Home Companion.

Always Dreaded the 14th.

Most dismal of all men of old the stage was Grimaldi, the clown, and his father fathered him. He had that curious dread of the 14th of which assaults so many. The older Grimaldi hated the 14th of the month, and when it was passed he regarded himself as safe until the next. He was born, christened and married on the 14th of the month, and being disappointed with all three dates, he had hoped his death on March 14, 1738, satisfied him.—London Tatler.

Cutting Humor.

With cap and bells jangling, he burst into the king's presence. "Have you heard my last joke, your majesty?" he asked.

"I have," was the reply as the royal ax descended on the neck of the court jester.—Life.

Realism.

The Author—Well, how did you like sleep? The Critic—It was very good. The Author—Didn't you think the church scene realistic? The Critic—Intensely so. Why, a great many of us actually went to sleep while it was on.—Cleveland Leader.

Bad Taste.

We have got objection to anything on the ground that it is wrong. When we wish to be particularly unpleasant we say in a sneering way that a certain action or thing is in very bad taste.—N. Y. Press.

Why Trees Grow Large.

Washington and Oregon have some of the largest trees in the world and the conditions of that section are responsible for this fact. In the Puget sound country the rainfall is about 52 inches, while up in the higher Cascades, near Seattle, it is 100 inches, and sometimes reaches the 150-inch point. Under such climatic conditions the seeds of the trees germinate readily and all the trees continue to make a vigorous growth.

THANKSGIVING PUDDING.

How to Prepare Various Kinds of This Dessert.

In the preparation of bread puddings the housekeeper should remember that, while bread in some form is used as the foundation, the other ingredients, such as milk, cream, butter, eggs, dried, fresh or canned fruits, spices and flavoring, must be added with a generous hand, for in this alone lies the difference between the pudding, watery bread pudding studded with a few luscious currants and the delicious cabinet pudding which is considered the very acme of delicacy, says the Delicater.

It is also desirable, unless one is instructed to the contrary, to warm the milk after the bread is added, mixing thoroughly with a wire potato masher or similar implement while heating, and if skimmed milk only is available a tiny pinch of baking soda should be added to prevent curdling. Bake the puddings in a moderate oven on earthenware dishes that have been well buttered, testing it by thrusting a thin bladed silver knife into the center. If found clear upon its removal the pudding is baked.

Ginger Pudding.—Upon two cupsfuls of crumbled bread crumbs pour sufficient hot syrup drawn from a pint of preserved Canton ginger to moisten, thoroughly beating with a wooden spoon to a paste. Then add one well beaten egg, the yolk and white beaten separately, a tablespoonful of grated nutmeg, two tablespoonfuls of powdered macaroon and half a cupful of the ginger cut in small pieces. Turn at once into an ornamental pudding mold that has been buttered and steam for two hours. At serving time unmold on a hot platter and serve with a hot, foamy sauce.

Chocolate Pudding.—To a quart of boiling milk allow a pint of grated bread crumbs, well before adding the other ingredients, then stir in one small cupful of sugar, three eggs and two squares of unsweetened chocolate, favoring with a scant half teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of vanilla extract and a little ground cinnamon. Pour into small custard cups and bake, set in a bowl of hot water for thirty-five minutes in a moderate oven. Allow them to cool and then place directly on the ice until ready to serve, turning them out on individual dessert plates, resting on a lace paper dolly. Garnish each with a star of sweetened whipped cream.

How to Remove the Smell of Paint. Every one knows that an onion has a distinct and unpleasant odor, whether cooked or raw. But every one does not know that this odor of an onion will draw to it every other disagreeable odor and clear the house atmosphere in a day.

The onion can then be thrown away, and with it goes the disagreeable smells that come about in a house that has been closed for the summer. And this is also a good thing to know: That it will absorb all the odor from fresh paint and turpentine. If the house has been freshly painted and cleaned this month for the winter's occupancy the people moving into it will be miserable with the smells that come from walls and floors.

After the fresh country these odors will be unendurable. One onion should be cut into small pieces and placed about the room in two or three saucers. Allow an onion to each room, and let the saucers remain there over day and night. If every bit of odor hasn't gone in that time put a few fresh pieces in for the next day.

How Professionals Starch Clothes.

The laundry method for starching collars and cuffs is considered by some housewives to be much superior to the usual home method. After the shirts and collars and cuffs have been washed and dried they are ready for starching. Use five tablespoonfuls of starch and one-half cup of cold water, and half teaspoonful of borax and a quart of boiling water. Cook the starch for half an hour. This is to be used merely on the bosoms, collars and cuffs of shirts and on the plaited fronts of shirt waists.

Stretch the cloth tightly on the table and tack it so as to keep it smooth. The starch will be like jelly and should be rubbed in with the fingers. The rubbing is not complete until the various thicknesses are as one, and the starch then must be wiped from both sides with a damp cloth.

How to Remove Rust Spots.

Whenever the ordinary hooks and eyes have been used on light colored frocks there are almost sure to be spots of iron rust as a result. The very first thing to do is to rip off the fasteners and get the rustless kind. Then repeat the use of salt and lemon and wash out thoroughly. It may be necessary to repeat this two or three times, but it is worth the trouble. If you haven't this preparation use plain lemon juice. Soak the salt in it, put it on the spot and expose to the sun.

How to Remove Mildew.

Should the clothes be mildewed the stains may be removed by a mixture containing equal parts of soft soap and starch, half as much common salt and half as much of a lemon juice. This may be spread over the spots, and the article should be laid on the grass all day and all night until the stain entirely disappears.
